Guard Sent To Prevent Race Clash

Governor's Action Could Test State, U. S. Police Power

By The Associated Press
Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas called on National Guardsmen to keep order and protect property at Little Rock's Central High School where nine Negro pupils had enrolled for opening classes today.

The guardsmen—100 strong and armed with bludgeons and carbines—were sent to the school last night. Soon afterwards the school board announced it had called off plans to integrate the 2,800-pupil school.

The school board had been ordered by a U.S. District Court to proceed with its plan of gradual integration.

Could Be First Test
The situation could be used as the backdrop for the first clear test of state police power in opposition to federal law.

While Arkansas thus for the moment stood front-stage in the tense drama of integration, other areas of the South moved smoothly—though spottily—toward race mixing in the lower classrooms.

In North Carolina, Negro and white children for the first time were ready to study side by side. Greensboro planned to begin its mixed classes today, Charlotte tomorrow and Winston-Salem on Thursday. Six Negro pupils are enrolled for mixed classes at Greensboro and four at Charlotte. At Winston-Salem only one Negro child has been assigned to a previously all-white school.

In Mecklenburg County, near Charlotte, however, 16 Negro children denied admission to white schools voiced the possibility of a court test. In turning down the Negroes' applications for assignment to white schools, the county school board said it was aware of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling which outlawed school segregation, but added that it also was aware of the crowded condition of the schools under its jurisdiction.

For the second year at Clinton, Tenn., Negro pupils expected to take their places among white children. Last year there was violence. This year none is expected when the eight Negroes enrolled at Clinton High School report to school with the 750 white pupils.

Clinton Clash Recalled
National Guardsmen were sent to Clinton last year when a dozen Negroes and about 800 white children faced integrated classes for the first time. The disorders that followed led to the widely publicized conspiracy trials at nearby Knoxville.

Next week — and also under court order — Nashville, Tenn., begins integrated classes. Thirteen Negro first-graders have been registered in schools that

Mrs. Roosevelt Flies To Soviet For Interviews

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, left today for Moscow by air to talk with several Soviet leaders as a newspaperwoman.

She said she would try to get interviews with "all Soviet statesmen—from Khrushchev and down."

"I want to see a lot of places, but whether they'll let me, I don't know," she said, adding that her tentative itinerary includes Leningrad, Kiev, Samarkand and Stalingrad.

Mrs. Roosevelt expects to stay in Russia for about three weeks.

Marine Freed In Shooting Of Jap Woman, Navy Says

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Navy said today a Marine was acquitted by a court-martial last October in a shooting similar to the controversial Girard case. That time, however, the Japanese woman didn't die.

A Japanese woman scrap collector was struck by an empty shell casing fired by the Marine from a rifle grenade launcher Sept. 7. The woman, Mrs. Kinuo Negami, 31, recovered.

Army Specialist J.C. William Girard, is accused of killing a Japanese woman scrap collector, Mrs. Naka Sakai, with a shell casing fired in the same manner.

A spokesman at Navy headquarters in Yokosuka identified the Marine as Pfc. Telesfor J. Truette of the 3rd Marine Regiment. The Marine was returned to the United States Jan. 2 and the Navy spokesman here said his U. S. address was not known.

The spokesman said Truette was on duty at the time and that the shooting occurred in an area where Truette's regiment was staging maneuvers. Notice had been given that the area was closed to outsiders, he added.

Mrs. Negami in February submitted a claim for $84.44 for medical expenses and disability and indicated that additional claims would be made later.

London Talks On Arms Cut Near Climax

LONDON (AP)—The stalemated London disarmament talks moved today into what generally was expected to be their final week.

Highly placed Western observers predicted the negotiations would be broken off in the next few days and debate shifted to the full 12-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission in New York.

The five-power Disarmament subcommittee, which resumed its London sessions March 18, has mirrored down in an East-West split over the banning of nuclear weapons, a halt in production of such weapons and inspections to enforce any agreement.

The impasse was pointed up in a letter, made public today, from Prime Minister Macmillan to Soviet Premier Bulganin urging some real progress in the disarmament talks.

Macmillan went over the head of Valerian Zorin, Soviet delegate to the subcommittee, to call for favorable consideration of Western proposals. He said the West was not encouraged by Zorin's recent rejection of the plan put forward by the United States, Canada, France and Britain, the Western nations on the subcommittee.

The Western plan called for reduction of conventional armaments and curtailment of nuclear weapons production, including a two-year halt in tests of such arms, and territorial inspection by land and air of atomic nations.

Zorin's rejection last week contended the plan contained nothing of genuine value and declared the Russians consider the five-month-old parity deadlocked.

Japan And Chinese Reds Plan Trade Agreement

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has decided to negotiate with Red China for a 30-million-dollar two-way trade agreement in Peking next month. This is three times the present rate.

An 11-man trade mission will leave Sept. 14 for negotiations.

Stock Market Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed early today after a generally higher opening.

Elderly Quiz Winner Dies

NEW YORK (INS)—Arctic Explorer Peter Freuchen, the bearded, 71-year-old Dane who starred as a contestant on the "64,000 Question" TV show last year, died Sunday in Anchorage, Alaska.

Word of his death reached New York today from News Commentator Lowell Thomas.

Buenos Aires Parley Fails To Gain Pact

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Inter-American Economic Conference last night unanimously approved a declaration of principles formally killing any hope for an economic treaty for the Americas in the near future.

The "Declaration of Buenos Aires" was approved by all the American nations except Venezuela, which did not send a delegate to the conference. The declaration set forth 10 basic principles intended to guide the Americas in their drive toward economic betterment.

It replaced but fell far short of the proposed general economic agreement which was to have laid out an economic policy for the hemisphere. The draft agreement bogged down in controversy after two weeks of haggling and objections by the United States, Mexico, Chile, Uruguay, Peru and Paraguay.

Delegates voted to ask the Organization of American States to continue to study the proposed agreement.

Rain General In East Area

By The Associated Press
Rain sprinkled the Eastern and Southern sections of the country today but generally fair weather prevailed in most other areas.

Cool air moved across the north central part of the nation and headed into the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. Showers and thunderstorms preceded the surge of cooler air.

Showers and thunderstorms set off near the leading edge of the cool air were reported from New York state through Ohio.

Effigy Hung, Negro Sector Blast Target

STURGIS, Ky. (AP)—The first day of an integration program for Sturgis schools today was preceded by the hanging of a Negro in effigy in downtown Sturgis and a blast of dynamite set off in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

It was the first report of trouble as thousands of school children in Kentucky began to attend integrated schools for the first time today.

A city official who declined to be quoted by name said the dummy was strung up by a gang of teen-agers Saturday night. He said the black-faced dummy, put together with rags and wire, was removed by police.

The spokesman said there were no reports of any injuries or damages caused by the dynamite blast which he said occurred Sunday night.

Schools opened today for registration for the fall term, and marked the beginning of an integration program for elementary grades. The program was developed pursuant to court order in connection with a suit filed by the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People. The NAACP filed the action after disturbances here last year when several Negro students enrolled at Sturgis High School. The Negroes were escorted to school by the Kentucky National Guard until a court ruling that they were illegally enrolled because the County Board of Education had announced no integration program.

Maryland Man Killed In Crash

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—James Ellis Stanley, 33, of Elkton was fatally injured early today when his car crashed into a bridge abutment on Maryland 7, 3 miles west of here.

Stanley died shortly after arrival at Union Hospital.

State Police said he was alone and apparently lost control of the car.

His death was not included in the state's Labor Day weekend accident toll since it occurred after midnight.

Dirksen Due To Get GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Self-styled Republican liberals have begun a long-range campaign to place one of their members in the line of succession to the Senate's GOP leadership.

As a part of this campaign, the all-out Eisenhower group may avoid any fight over the top leadership post when Sen. Knowland of California steps down from that job at the end of his term next year.

Instead, they are seeking to

Road Death Toll Soars On Holiday

Traffic Fatalities Hit 431, Exceeding July Fourth Total

By The Associated Press
Traffic Fatalities ..... 431
Drowning ..... 87
Miscellaneous ..... 92
Total ..... 610

Accidents killed at least 610 Americans during the Labor Day weekend.

The death toll from traffic was 431, more than two-thirds of all fatalities. Drownings took 87 lives and there were 92 fatalities in other types of accidents, with private plane crashes accounting for many of these.

The traffic toll for the three-day holiday compared with 435 last year, 438 in 1955, and a record of 461 set in 1951.

420 Predicted By NSC
The National Safety Council had predicted 420 traffic deaths for this year's holiday.

Commenting on the outcome, Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said:

"We are deeply disappointed, of course, that the Labor Day toll not only was higher than our pre-holiday estimate, but exceeded the four-day Fourth of July toll."

In this year's Independence Day weekend, a 102-hour period, traffic took 426 lives. The traffic toll for a similar period Memorial Day was 413.

The count of accident deaths covered a 74-hour period from 8 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday.

For a three-day non-holiday weekend last month, the Associated Press counted 398 traffic deaths and 567 from all types of accidents.

Record Toll In 1951

This year's over-all accidental death toll also was one of the highest for a Labor Day weekend in more than 10 years. The record was 658 in 1951. Last year's over-all toll was 596.

As millions jammed highways in the last holiday weekend of summer, the traffic death rate mounted steadily, showing sharp increases Sunday and yesterday.

The National Safety Council, which had predicted the 420 deaths, also had estimated some 45 million cars would be on the highways during the weekend.

Bill On FBI Files Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill aimed at protecting FBI files from unrestricted searches by defense lawyers.

Congress passed the bill as one of the last acts of the session. The Justice Department and FBI chief Edgar Hoover had asked for it because of the Supreme Court's Jencks case decision last June.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said the decision created a grave emergency in law enforcement. Hoover said his men couldn't go on with their work if their confidential files were opened to fishing expeditions by defense attorneys.

Mass Burial Slated For Wreck Victims

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—A mass burial was planned today for nearly 200 Jamaicans killed in the wreck of a Roman Catholic excursion train, one of the worst disasters in railroad history.

The count of the dead reached 176 last night and the Catholic bishop of Jamaica, the most Rev. John J. McElaney of Woburn, Mass., estimated it might rise to 200.

As the bodies were collected and the injured treated in Kingston and towns near the wreckage, there was still no full explanation of what had caused the disaster Sunday night.

The train, carrying about 1,500 Jamaican Catholics home from a pilgrimage and beach outing, became uncoupled at about 11 p.m. as it approached the town of Kendal, 60 miles west of Kingston.

The lead diesel first broke loose. Then a second diesel and two coaches were detached. The two coaches plunged down a 100-foot embankment as nine of the remaining cars were derailed.

One of the coaches which dropped from the embankment burned and all its passengers were reported dead.

Some of the passengers reported that the train had been halted several times because of unruly behavior by some of those aboard.

Ferdie Madden, an undertaker who had gone on the outing at Montego Bay, on Jamaica's north coast, said he left the train before the accident because of bad behavior by some of the younger people aboard.

George McCarthy, a male nurse at the Kingston mental hospital, said many of the passengers had been drinking and the train was stopped several times.

Vet Housing Bill Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today killed legislation to extend and expand a direct loan program for veterans housing in rural areas and small communities.

In announcing a pocket veto of the measure, Eisenhower said it would have "a potential inflationary effect upon the economy." He also termed the proposed program "discriminatory."

Because Congress already has adjourned, the President's memorandum of disapproval has the effect of killing the bill.

Red Claim On Missile Is Evasive

Eisenhower Says Weapon Test Not Actual Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Congress did not cut his budget enough to justify a tax cut.

Eisenhower told a news conference he estimates Congress cut government spending this year by only a billion dollars or so.

He said it might be possible to reduce taxes next year if further savings can be made—if, he added, some unforeseen ways of reducing expenditures can be found.

Eisenhower said he is not much inclined to modify a previous statement that he is tremendously disappointed in Congress' performance.

Termed Major Problem

He said he regards inflation as the country's major internal problem. At the same time he said his administration is not considering peacetime wage-price controls but will rely rather on trying to persuade influential people to hold the inflation line.

Eisenhower said his own objective in government will be to continue trying to apply conservative principles to modern problems.

He said he is confident that in the long run what he described as his middle-of-the-road philosophy of government will win popular support.

Discounts Red Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, commenting on Russia's intercontinental missile claims, said today mere testing of such weapons is a long way from actual production.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference when asked whether he could give the American people any information on the status of this country's efforts to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile—ICBM.

The questioner asked for comment in the light of the Soviet Union's announcement last week that it had successfully tested such a weapon.

Eisenhower replied that anything he said had to be within the framework of national security. He went on to say that careful reading of the Russian announcement marked it more for what it did not say than what it actually did say.

The President called the Soviet announcement most evasive. The Russians always have been known for statements which serve only their own purposes, he said.

Eisenhower said that in the past the Russians have been something less than completely reliable, and added that on this occasion he saw no reason for placing more credence than usual in the Soviet announcement.

As for this country's progress in that field, the President actually said nothing about the status of work. He did say many millions of dollars have been spent within the capacity of available scientific

Cops Nab Sonny Near Night Club For Being Tipsy

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Actor Sonny Tufts will have top billing today at his court hearing on drunk charges.

The playboy actor ran afoul of the law last night when police found him sprawled on the sidewalk outside a Hollywood night spot.

Sympathetic sheriff's deputies transported the actor to an emergency hospital where a four-stitch gash above his eye was repaired.

Soviet, West Powers Plan War Games In Baltic Area

LONDON (AP)—Naval forces of both the Soviet Union and NATO are scheduled to carry out maneuvers in Baltic waters of Europe this month, but they apparently will be operating about 1,000 miles apart.

Moscow radio announced the Soviet war games today in a warning to foreign ships and planes to steer clear of "hazardous" operations in the area. A Defense Ministry statement said the Soviets would take no responsibility for damage incurred in the danger zone.

The Russian operations will be held from Sept. 10 to Oct. 15 in an area directly north of the Ural Mountains, centering on the Soviet island Novaya Zemlya (New Land) and the islands form an archipelago of 35,000 square miles.

The closest part of Scandinavia is arctic Norway, about 300 miles to the southwest. The broadcast said air and naval maneuvers will be held with different types of modern weapons and warned all ships and planes it will be dangerous to enter the waters or the air space of the area.

North Atlantic Alliance officials have not pinned down the NATO maneuver area, except to say it will be north of the North Sea.

Mine Union Welfare Fund Payments Near 142 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund today reported payments of nearly 142 million dollars in benefits in the year ended June 30.

An annual report showed an unspent balance of $145,321,231.33 as of June 30, compared with $130,172,370.58 June 30, 1956.

The report said 97.2 per cent, or $138,018,257.17, of last year's expenditures was paid to 215,702 beneficiaries. Administrative costs, including those of the Washington headquarters and 10 area medical offices, accounted for the other 2.8 per cent.

The fund is supported by tonnage royalty payments by mining firms, but is operated independently of the union or the firms.

The report said 63,009 retired miners were receiving $100 monthly pension payments on June 30, in addition to social security payments or any other income. Pension payments totaled $75,002,584.12 during the year.

Auto Owner 'Plays Safe,' Car Smacked

FREDERICK (AP)—Laurens Bowers had read and heard so much about the hazards of driving on congested highways over holiday weekends.

His best bet for an accident-free Labor Day, he decided, was to park the family buggy in front of his house and spend the day at home. That's what he did, and it worked—almost.

Last night a vehicle turned a corner near Bowers' house and smashed into the car, causing damage estimated at about $200.

Police arrested the driver on charges of drunken and reckless driving.

U.S. Church Membership Climbs To Record Total

NEW YORK (AP)—America's church and synagogue membership rose to a record total of 103,224,954 in 1956—slightly more than 3,000,000 over 1955—the National Council of Churches reports.

This figure indicates that 62 out of every 100 Americans of all ages are members of a church or synagogue.

A century ago, 29 of every 100 Americans were members of a church.

The 1956 increase is reported in the Yearbook of American Churches, published by the National Council of Churches and released yesterday. The council is a federation of major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Church bodies.

The figures are a compilation of official reports of religious bodies. Among the statistics included in the publication were these:

The over-all figures from churches and synagogues showed an increase of 3 per cent for 1956, compared with an estimated population rise of 1.7 per cent.

Sunday school enrollment in 1956 was up 2.5 per cent for a total of about 40 million.

Local congregations rose by 3,198 for a total of 303,647.

Pastors with charges reached a new high of 235,100, a gain of 13,000 over 1955.

Per capita contributions were $54, an increase of 8 per cent.

New church construction was at a peak of 775 million dollars, 40 million over 1955.

The average size of congregations rose to 334 in 1956. It was 234 a generation ago.

An analysis of figures of major faiths showed that there were 60,148,920 Protestants—a gain of 1,700,000 during the year; 34,563,851 Roman Catholics—up 1,167,204; 5,500,000 Jews—the same as reported in 1955; and 2,598,033 Eastern Orthodox communions—a gain of 212,000.

Of the major Protestant groupings, the Baptists led with nearly 20 million members in 27 different church bodies.

Next were Methodists with close to 12 million in 21 bodies; Lutherans with 7 million, and Presbyterians with slightly under 4 million.

Has Highest Priority

The missile program has the highest priority, he said, but added that it will be a long time before a long-range missile is the best means of delivering explosive power.

INTEGRATION—Eisenhower said he has conferred with the Justice Department regarding the halting of integration at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., and that the department is investigating.

Gov. Orval Faubus ordered National Guardsmen to the school grounds, and the school board halted planned integration despite a federal court order providing for it.

As to the school integration picture generally, Eisenhower said we are going to whip this thing in the long run by Americans being true to themselves and not by laws.

Liners Dock, Set New York Harbor Record

NEW YORK (AP)—About 9,300 transatlantic travelers are disembarking from 12 liners docking here today—a record single-day influx of shipboard passengers in Port of New York history.

With the superliner United States leading the way, the vessels enter into harbor between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. with eight docked in the first hour. There was a severe manpower problem for the customs, immigration and U.S. Public Health inspection services.

No case of Asian flu had been reported aboard the 12 vessels, according to Dr. Leo W. Tucker, medical director of the U.S. quarantine station at Rosebank, Staten Island.

Tucker said ships' doctors usually report cases of sickness to the station by at least the day before docking. He said each passenger would be given a brief lookover before leaving a ship unless the ship's doctor has reported the passenger as sick.

This is just a figure of speech, of course, but the proverbial snowball vendor had nothing on the retail pharmacist, for we too are in business to sell things people don't want. They'd much rather be well and not need a prescription. Yet, the pharmacist must stock thousands of drugs which he can't sell until a third party, the physician, gives the customer written permission to buy in the form of a prescription. Naturally, this unique situation presents somewhat of a problem to the drug store as far as keeping drug stocks fresh and up to date, since it is sometimes difficult to anticipate what products will be in demand. That's why it makes sense to have your prescription filled where the inventory is large and the turnover of drugs rapid. # State Legislators Set Check Of Bridge Tolls

By HERB THOMPSON
BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council expects to find out tomorrow whether tolls can be lowered on the five-year-old Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The State Roads Commission is scheduled to submit a long-awaited report of traffic and fiscal studies which should hold the answer.

The legislators can only listen and question and raise a ruckus if they don't like the report. Actual lowering of the tolls is out of their hands. It all depends on what the engineering firm of Coverdale and Colpitts has to say about it.

The study of a possible toll readjustment was undertaken by the New York firm after the 1957 Legislature had requested the SRC to have it made. Commission Chairman Robert O. Bonnell has had results of the study in hand for some time but has declined to make the report public until tomorrow's council meeting.

Meanwhile, Sens. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel), Eastern Shore colleagues in the General Assembly and Senate President Louis Goldstein (D-Calvert) have chafed and waited.

They feel the bridge tolls of $1.40 for car and driver and 25 cents for each additional passenger are way out of line with actual needs and with those on other structures, and they have vowed to exert whatever pressure they can to have them lowered.

The big span, an engineering marvel linking Maryland's Eastern and Western shores, has been making money hand over fist since it was opened to traffic at 8 p.m. July 30, 1952.

It cost about 45 million dollars, including construction, engineering fees, interest etc. In its first five years it took in 21 million—some 7 million dollars more than engineers had estimated for that period. This brought predictions it would pay for itself in 11 to 12 years, and increased pressure from legislators to bring down the price of tolls.

But there's a joker in the deck which has just about everybody's hands tied. The bridge isn't just paying for itself. Its revenues go into a special fund along with those of other Maryland toll facilities to retire bonds with which they were privately financed.

Presently contributing to this fund are the Potomac River Bridge, which charges $1 per car, the Susquehanna River Bridge, 20 cents per car and the Bay Bridge. The Bay Bridge yields more than both the others combined, but the other two have already earned their cost.

The possible obstacle to lower tolls is the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel, and even more ambitious undertaking which will be opened to traffic in December. It is costing 130 million dollars and tolls from it—presently planned for 35 cents per car—will go into the bridge-tunnel fund.

When the SRC got ready to start work on the tunnel it floated a new loan of 180 million dollars in October, 1954. This redeemed the bonds then outstanding on the Bay Bridge (some 34 million dollars) and refinanced it in the same package with the Harbor Tunnel. It is a 40-year issue, of which some 5 million dollars has already been redeemed. Ten million dollars more is maintained in a special reserve fund.

Legislators got their dander up as soon as they heard about the proposed 35-cent tunnel fare. Many of them figured this meant the Bay Bridge would go on "subsidizing" the tunnel with high tolls after the latter was opened to traffic and long after the Bay Bridge may have been paid for. Experts have estimated the Tunnel will produce revenues of about $12,000 per day.

Sens. Phipps, and Malkus (D-Dorchester) and Nock (D-Wicomico) and their colleagues have complained that continued high tolls on the Bay Bridge, believed to be the highest in this section of the country, are working a hardship on bridge users.

They want to see a flat rate per car for the big span and they want the rate lowered, say to about $1. Phipps also thinks the State should sell round-trip tickets on the bay span for the price of one-way fare in order to stimulate more use of the bridge by non-commuters. Commuters get a special rate of 35 cents on tickets sold on a monthly basis.

Phipps says bridge tolls should be lowered even if it means raising the tunnel price to some figure higher than 35 cents. He points to a 50 cent toll charged by the Lincoln and Holland tunnels in New York. He argues that increased traffic should prevent any substantial loss of revenue on the Bay Bridge.

The engineering experts have been studying the effects in relation to all the toll structures and this data is expected to be in the report submitted tomorrow.

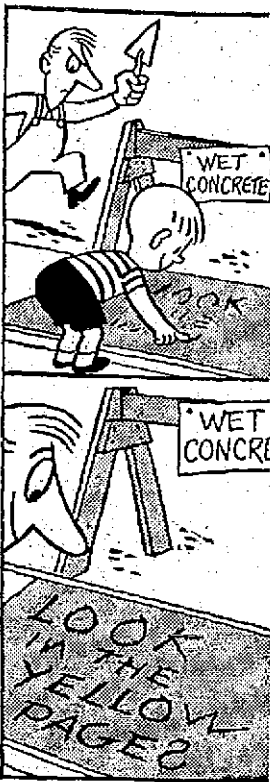

If Coverdale and Colpitts finds the bridge will take in enough revenue with lower tolls to retire the bridge-tunnel bonds on schedule, the SRC can go to trustees of the bond holders with a recommendation they be lowered. Otherwise, no. The bond indenture specifies that the traffic engineering firm's approval will be necessary for any change in tolls.

Legislative Council Chairman Goldstein has requested Coverdale and Colpitts to send a representative to the meeting at which the firm's report will be presented by Bonnell.

"We deem your presence necessary to complete the hearing and secure all the necessary information," he said in a telegram to the firm.

The meeting is set for 2 p.m. in the Baltimore City Council chamber.

Career Corner

By JOAN HANAUER
NEW YORK (INS)—The girl who conducts her business life with as much care as her social career is bound to make a big hit.

"Mind your manners," advised Mrs. Rosemary Weymouth, counselor for hundreds of workers at an electronics firm.

"You want to impress your dream boy with your manners, so do the same with your boss and other employees."

Find out whether your new place of employment calls for first or last names. Be pleasant on the telephone, even though the constant ringing can be an interruption.

"Remember that thank-you goes a long way toward smoothing out the business bumps," she added.

Keep in mind that wrinkled clothing, soiled neckties or cuffs, run-down shoes are all indications of carelessness. You would be as good as dead on a date—dress the same way for the office day.

Keep a tight rein on yourself. You wouldn't want a new beau to see you in a rage, so control your temper with a new boss and fellow workers. Also banish the tears routine—your boss has probably seen it before.

The one date trick that shouldn't be carried over to the office is the vamp act—don't wear gaudy colors, too much perfume, heavy jewelry or plunging necklines.

North America's native elk once roamed over much of Canada and the United States. Called "wapiti" by the Indians, the English colonists named it "elk" after Europe's big deer.

Apparatus Aids Heart Surgeons

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—A University of Michigan team of surgeons has developed a successful apparatus for use in bypassing blood around the heart to permit delicate surgery.

The Michigan Medical Bulletin said the heart pump includes two components: a commercially made pump with "keyboard action" and a blood oxygenator, which replaces the lungs in the circulatory bypass. Research and development began in 1955 as a team by the U. of M. Department of Surgery, Thoracic Surgery Section.

U. of M. heart surgeons believe the new pump-oxygenator—which has been used primarily for repairing congenital heart defects in children—will be adapted to adult cardiac surgery in the near future.

They said the only other method to open the heart for surgery is by "hypothermia"—immersion of the patient in ice water to lower body temperature. This, however, limits the surgeon's operating time to about seven minutes. They said that with the heart pump, it is possible not only to operate with complete vision of the entire heart, but the surgeon has as much as 30 minutes in which to complete his work.

Munitions Found Under Japanese School House

CHIBA CITY, Japan (AP)—School was dismissed recently in Chiba City while workers dug up a half-forgotten store of munitions buried under the high school.

After the war the old Imperial army anti-aircraft school had been converted into a high school. Then someone remembered that live shells, explosives and about 200 big bombs were buried under the anti-aircraft school in the closing days of the war.

The explosives were found all right—and all very much alive.

"Tomorrow a remarkable new automobile joins the Ford family of fine cars"

There has never been a car like the Edsel. It is a magnificent automobile. Behind it lie all the resources of Ford Motor Company, all of the experience and all of the engineering skill. The results:

The Edsel is powered by the newest V-8 engines in the industry—the Edsel 400 and the Edsel 475. Their specifications: 400 and 475 foot-pounds of torque; 303 and 345 horsepower; 10.5 to 1 compression ratio. You have never handled this kind of power before.

The Edsel's big, safer brakes do not need periodic tightening. They adjust themselves automatically in the course of your day-to-day driving.

The Edsel shifts itself. With Teletouch Drive, you just touch a button on the steering wheel hub. Teletouch Drive does the rest—smoothly, surely, electrically.

The Edsel's list of available new features includes a warning light that flashes when you exceed your pre-set speed limit; another that flashes when oil is one quart low; a release that opens the luggage compartment from the driver's seat.

You will find there are many things that make the Edsel different from any other car you have ever driven. More exciting, more sure, more safe.

What does an Edsel cost? Prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.

Stop in soon at your Edsel Dealer to see and to test-drive the newest car in the world: the Edsel.

Small Comfort

ONCE A YEAR the problem of our growing school population comes out of the realm of high prophecy and becomes a matter of disquieting fact. In its annual survey, the U. S. Office of Education says America's school and college enrollment will soar this fall to a record 43,135 persons. That represents a 43.3 per cent increase over last year, and it means that roughly one out of every four Americans will be in some kind of school, from kindergarten to the professional level. The nation's elementary schools, getting the shock waves of the wartime and postwar baby crops, will have to accommodate about 960,000 more pupils in 1957-58 than in the previous season. Altogether they will handle some 30,670,000.

HIGH SCHOOLS in the United States will have to make room somehow for 604,000 more students than in 1956-57. And the colleges will bulge with an added 206,000. These are actualities. They are not likely to be questioned by those who sometimes cast doubt on the accuracy of forecasts of future heavy school population. What do the realities of this 1957-58 season mean? According to the Office of Education, they mean serious shortages of both classroom and teachers at the lower levels. As for the colleges, so many applicants are in prospect in the years just ahead that a crisis impends. This year they stand in the shadow of that crisis.

JUST ONE illustration might be offered as to what the teacher and classroom shortage spells for students. New Jersey school authorities say that nearly 200,000 public school pupils will be taught this year by teachers with substandard training. And more than 100,000 will attend classes either half-session or in emergency, substandard schoolroom facilities. In greater or lesser degree, this situation exists all over America. It can hardly be a comfort to the mothers and fathers of children who will thus be short-changed on their schooling—many at the critical formative years. And it cannot bring much happiness to those lawmakers and other public figures who declare that the school problem is under control and needs only to be let alone.

A FISHERY research ship reports that the temperature of one Arctic Ocean area has become warmer by about four degrees. That's the spot for a bracing swim these hot summer afternoons.

Economic Factors

THIS, OF COURSE, is the time of mixed economic trends, some pointing toward record activity, some showing a leveling off, others indicating a downturn. One of the big sustaining factors in recent times, in the midst of certain obvious discouragements, has been the continued high level of business expenditure for new plant and equipment. This is always viewed as an evidence of long-range business optimism, and is given great weight. Lately, however, the signs have grown that outlays for heavy machinery and equipment are tapering off. In the first half of 1957, orders in this field fell some .5 per cent below the January level. They have climbed back a bit in the current period, but the forecast is for another drop running through the rest of this year and most of 1958. Other statistics can be marshaled in support of the tapering-off theory. Orders for machine tools have been off the 1956 pace as much as 38 per cent. For structural steel they were down 21 per cent from .956 levels in the first half of 1957. And so on. These are warnings of consequence, and should alert business and government leaders to keep a sharp eye out for weakness in the more general trends.

A BRITISH housewife is somewhat dismayed by her inheritance of a 60-room castle. First sympathy should be reserved for the husband, however, who will probably have to move the furniture around in all those rooms.

Moment Of Drama As New Solon Takes Oath

WASHINGTON — We watched a charade of these confused times acted out on the floor of the U. S. Senate as that body went through a changing of the guard to admit another Democrat.

The clock on the wall opposite the rostrum of the presiding officer edged up toward 1 o'clock. Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, not by any stretch of the imagination to be confused with John C. Calhoun, sea-sawed wearily back and forth behind his desk on the back row as he was completing the 15th hour of his speech against the civil rights bill.

Except for the fact that he is a teetotaler — and doesn't smoke, either — the slender gentleman with the over-all pallid cast might have been a fellow at the bar who had been there so long he was leathe to go home, and so kept on having one after another, all by himself, mumbling to himself at himself.

THURMOND was nearly alone as he mumbled on. He had been talking since shortly before 9 o'clock the night before. In him was symbolized the dire schism that afflicts the Democratic party over civil rights, but, in his case, to an extreme degree.

Why was he making this spectacle of himself when everybody knows already how he hates the civil rights bill and how, for the first time since Reconstruction, there's nothing the Southerners can do about it?

The simple answer is that folks in South Carolina did not think he and his colleague, Senator Olin Johnston, had exerted themselves enough. He'll show 'em. So there he stands, weaving and bobbing.

What a high price some men put on a seat in the U. S. Senate! But wait, there is a stir about the almost-empty chamber. Lean and agile Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas slides into the room and to the front seat reserved for the Democratic leader.

He rises to ask unanimous consent for a break in these proceedings so that the newest recruit to Democratic ranks in the Senate can take the oath of office. At the same time, the break would not deprive Thurmond of his right to the floor. Afterward, he could go on with his job of beating himself about the stake and piling on the fatigues of his sacrifice for the South — and for the voters of South Carolina.

JOHNSON is granted permission. The word has got around about the swearing-in ceremony and gradually members drift in. There, hurrying across the back of the chamber to his seat on the Democratic side, is the Colorado Senator, John Carroll, who finally won election after two tries, and close on his heels is the new Texas Senator, Ralph Yarborough, who finally made it after three tries.

They settle themselves to get ready for a new member of their club who made it after three tries. That suggests one of the secrets of Democratic success — keep on trying and keep on seeing and shaking hands with as many folks as you can, and eventually it will happen.

The newest member of the try-again Club finally appears after some delay — during which Thurmond has been droning on — and there he stands in the middle aisle beside his colleague, Republican Senator Alexander Wiley, while his wife and her family beam from the family gallery.

SO THIS slight, wispy-haired, amiably witty gentleman is the young man who created such a revolution in Wisconsin and, as one looks, there comes back the remark of Abraham Lincoln as he peered down from his height at Harriet Beecher Stowe and said: "So this is the little lady who made so great a war."

In time William Proxmire is standing, hand upraised and takes the oath as the new Senator from Wisconsin to succeed Joe McCarthy.

As Thurmond signifies the split in the Democratic party — the Confederates have never stopped fighting Harriet Beecher Stowe's war — so the first Democratic Senator from Wisconsin in 25 years directs attention to the schism between "modern Republicans" and what might be called the "Grand Army of the Republic" wing of the party. That feud broke out in Wisconsin to hamstring the Republican Senatorial candidate, former Governor Walter Kohler.

IT WAS ONLY natural that Johnson, who seems to be trying to appropriate from Henry Clay the mantle of "The Great Compromiser," resorted to his favorite word, "unity" — which he likes at most any price — and said that it was unity of all forces behind Bill Proxmire that brought him to the Senate.

In a sense he was correct, but not in his sense. The Wisconsin revolution happened because Senator Proxmire was a fighting, crusading campaigner. He seemed to catch the folks as they awoke to the fact that government here has been weighted for big business and big finance behind the genial smile of the front man — the President.

This awakening gives meaning to the grievances they have — high cost of living, reduced farm income, tight money, continued high taxes for the general run of folks and continued loopholes and special privileges for the rich.

The question is whether this tide, epitomized in the Proxmire victory, will continue or whether the conservative wing of the Democratic party, epitomized in Thurmond, will poison the precincts for the Northern Democrats on civil rights and the Southern leadership of the party in Congress will neglect to capitalize on the very obvious economic issues.

Glancing Sideways

LAREDO, Tex.: A letter to Rex Smith, American Airlines, New York, N. Y.

Dear Rex: It wasn't possible to be in New York when your book came out, but Pepe Romero told me about it in Mexico City when we were still sifting the plaster dust out of our scalps after the earthquake and it was his considered opinion that it was a fine job of assembling and correlating the great games of bullfighting.

He thinks you covered the field and made the proper commentary in each case. But he was puzzled, too. He had a feeling that, as good as it was and as careful as it was (and accurate), there was something missing, something he couldn't exactly define.

I asked if, perhaps, you had forgotten the brave girls. Like Conchita Cintron at her top. Or perhaps not enough attention was given to one or two American girls who have been coming up. He said, no, that wasn't it, but there was something.

I THINK I have found it. I found it the other afternoon in the ring at San Luis Potosi in Juana Aparicio, a pure Indian girl of fascinating style and formidable courage. She is billed as the Reina Azteca del Torero and she turned out to be exactly as billed: the Aztec Queen of Bullfighting.

She is a dark, slim, nervous willow, who fulfilled every obligation of her star billing.

They had six bulls from Don Ernesto Cuevas' famed ranch at El Salto in Hidalgo. Fast, determined, remorseless animals from the unbroken Cuevas line.

His father, Don Carlos Cuevas, was a stickler and no calf lacking any points or promise survived to enlarge the breed. He weeded out ruthlessly, and the result is that Cuevas bulls, as I am sure you know, are out to fight to the death—theirs or their adversaries.

MY GIRL and I had seats in the first fila of the barrera and watched Aparicio show what a great espada can do. Her two assignments were tough, heavy in the frame and large of head. Her cape work was exquisite, her feet were poems and although she had no great cuadrilla back of her, when the chips were down for her and she was alone with her foe, she shone.

Her picadores and banderilleros were only fair, but when Juanita was out there at the end, with nearly 1,600 pounds of enraged bull to work down, it was thrilling. Her Gaonas and mariposas were flawless.

The bull worked in very close at one point and she used a Pase Natural to bring him around her and then invited him in even closer with a Manoletina that caused the crowd to yell and throw money, jewelry and hats.

IF SHE WAS four inches away from the horns, I would be amazed. Her feet were as close as though grown together and into the ground. She passed her first bull with a magnificent faena and then worked him until his head and horns swirled about her knees. Men cried out and cheered. It was beautiful style. Her sword is an honest blade honestly handled and her postures are like paintings.

THE NEXT time you come down here, check your matador friends for news of her and, if possible, watch her work one afternoon. She had Jorge Montana (Ojitos) and Rafael Gurman as fellow matadors the other afternoon and she made clods of them.

If you want a picture of my bride and I, rooted in fascination in the first row while we watched this girl in the Plaza de Toros at San Luis, I can furnish it. I only wish I could furnish the words to describe what a sensational espada she is.

As is in best taste, she worked in black clothes, with a frilled shirt. Her jacket was as plain as funereal garments and her hair was in a soft bun. She held her arms at the exact fractions of rise to be in impeccable style and her kills were clean and swift.

They awarded her the ears. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Tell Us, Who's Stupid Now?

WASHINGTON — "Boy," said the big brass to the earnest young man in charge of $1,000,000 worth of military supplies, "you are in a mess."

Then the hot shots of the Army would go away, leaving Chief Warrant Officer Benny H. Wilks to worry some more about the shambles of wildly-assorted hardware under his charge on the subarctic beach at Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland.

The stuff simply was stacked there in packing cases. Wilks had no idea what was in the boxes, because the numbers long since had weathered off. Most of the cases, themselves, were rotted from repeated rains, snowstorms, and temperatures ranging down to 45 degrees below zero.

SOME OF THIS material was new and in perfect condition. Much consisted of humongous gismos, with uses too esoteric for him. "Some of that stuff out there I still don't know what it is," Wilks assured the investigating Senators.

Vainly he tried to pass on some of his mountainous supplies to headquarters, but the man there always said, "Boy, go on." The man was in charge of $4,000,000 worth of supplies and he, too, didn't know what to do with the magnified problem.

So there were Wilks and his eight helpers, trying to patch up busted trucks and road-building machinery. Say they'd need a generator. Wilks would be sure he had it in the pile somewhere, but it would take him two weeks to find it. So he'd order a new one.

EVEN SO, HE and his over-worked assistants spent many of their waking hours showing cases of junk around and then showing it back again. Teams of property experts frequently showed up from the nice, warm United forms and new ideas and that they actually wanted less law-making.

THERE WAS particular apathy over presidential recommendations that had been made to Congress before: Taft-Hartley revision, depressed area development, taking the U.S. into the Organization for Trade Cooperation and things like that.

The fact that both Houses became involved on issues requiring long debate, like the new Eisenhower doctrine on the Middle East and civil rights legislation, lowered the list of accomplishments.

The normal lack of cooperation between a president of one party and a Congress controlled by the other was apparent. And this year, for the first time, the 22nd amendment which limits a president to two terms, had its effect in diminishing President Eisenhower's influence.

It is now fairly obvious that neither party can go home from this session claiming credit for anything more than economy. Maybe that's enough. But if the President was made to look bad as a leader, Congress wasn't made to look any better as a deer.

Its most important work is all left for next year.

Assignment America

ROUTE 9, N. Y. — Lest anyone doubt that today's child can outwit its parents—while its parents' outwit the child—he should visit a roadside attraction called "Storytown, U.S.A."

Here, on 50 acres of hilly pastureland, are recreations of most of the fairy tales that once were kicked around the family hearth, before TV became bigger than the produce problems of the old woman who lived in the shoe.

Who goes ga-ga over this opportunity to ride in Cinderella's pumpkin, feed the three little pigs and discuss the enormity of his eyes with the wolf in grandma's clothing?

Mother and Father, of course. The children, nurtured by television and psychology to take a more realistic view of life, aren't quite with it.

"Storytown," which might be described as the hurried-man's "Disneyland," is located on Route 9 just south of historic Ol' Lake George, and is divided into two sections . . . "Mother Goose Land," starting such attractions as a lumbering Jack and Jill, Mary and a lamb that ba-a-shs back, a floating rub-dub-tub, etc.; and a "ghost town," simulating the old west, with medicine men, a girly can-can show in an old saloon, a twice-daily shootin' match in the street.

"THE WAY THE OWNER, Charles Wood, planned it," said proprietor Neil Smith, "the Mother Goose section was for the children and the ghost town was for the adults. It works the other way around. The kids wait till their fathers are happily discussing things with little Bo Peep and their mothers are maybe feeding the street bears—then they rush off to have a coke in Dan McGrew's saloon, and watch the action."

"We lose more parents that way." In four years of operation, Storytown has drawn "about three adults for every child," Smith says. A veteran of six years with another roadside attraction, "Santa's Workshop" in the more northern Adirondacks, he believes this is a typical breakdown on attendance at most so-called children's playlands.

IT'S VERY SIMPLE. Adults want to be children again, and children—especially the current model—want to be grown-up. The one has seen enough of life to yearn to withdraw from it awhile and make believe that bears are all little, and that wolves are just ventriloquists with extra hair.

The other, having seen life only on the screen, wants to get into it realistically, to walk the streets betwixt the badmen, feel the hot sting of carbonation in their throats, to dirty their shoes in earthenness.

Twenty-five years from now (presuming today's children should live so long) they'll be sentimental sissies like their parents are, reveling in the innocent joy of seeing lost fairy-tales reconstructed for only $1.35. But right now, at Storytown, U.S.A., the kiddies are upholding a poetic tradition of ours which goes:

The youngster of the modern day's A stern sophisticate.
No longer are his eyes amazed
At stories that relate
Of Bluebeard snuffing out a wife,
Of tails cut off with a carving knife;
He wants a slice of gruesome life
Served raw upon his plate.

"This process keeps up for three or four months. When we do get down to actual business, some legislation like civil rights comes along. Then all other matters except appropriations are blocked and remain blocked."

The first session of any two-year term of Congress normally accomplishes less than the second. But fewer matters received attention this year than in many years past.

LAST YEAR, Congress adjourned July 27 with 390 measures enacted into public law. This year Congress had enacted only 116 measures by July 30. There is every indication the count for this year will be around 200 new public laws enacted out of over 13,000 measures introduced. This is only a little more than half of the previous year's record.

Furthermore, a majority of this year's enactments are either routine or trivial. Things like deleting the requirements for reports from persons operating peanut-picking or threshing machines. Or an increase in pay for the director of the Washington police band. Or transferring certain archives to Puerto Rico.

The general consensus is that there was a desire on the part of most congressmen to hold back on important legislation (all next year — an election year — for greater political haymaking. But there were other factors — also political.

The Battle of the Budget was used by many congressmen as an excuse for taking no action on controversial issues.

Economy provided a good out for do-nothingism. But there was also some feeling that the people back home were tired of re-

Ni-Resist Manifolds

Exhaust manifolds on heavy duty diesel engines for locomotives and trucks are often made of Ni-Resist nickel-chromium cast iron because of this alloy's ability to withstand oxidation and scaling at elevated temperatures.

Phone Call Saves Man From Lightning

DRIFT, Ky. (U)—A little girl didn't know it at the time but she probably saved Earl Turner's life during a rainstorm.

Turner was standing outside his theater when the girl telephoned to ask when the movie would start.

He told her 7:15 then reeled back from a blinding flash of lightning.

Leaving the boxoffice, Turner dashed outside to the spot where he had been standing and found a 75-pound piece of limestone, knocked from the roof by lightning.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Divorcee, Long-time For Wraith of Marriage, Aids Guidance.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I was divorced about 18 months ago, and in one sense I haven't been able to find happiness since.

I have attained more peace of mind in this time, having had to face facts, and face myself, due to sheer necessity. But I have missed the warm companionship of marriage — which in my case lasted only three years.

I didn't want divorce, but was told if I didn't take action, he would. He is married again, I hear, and he had been married before, prior to marrying me.

My problem is — I don't know where to go from here. I should be making new contracts, but don't seem able to establish any further close relationships. In fact — and this may be hard to understand — I haven't had a date with a man since my divorce. I have tried — have gone to social clubs, been active in church work and endeavored to use my business contacts — with no results.

Where To Find Close Ties?

I have made an adjustment of sorts to my situation; but increasing loneliness is creeping up on me. Having gone to a psychiatrist for several years, I think I have probably worked out some emotional problems. But this dilemma seems of a more practical nature — one that I can't fathom.

I hope my statement of the case isn't too incoherent; and that you can provide some insight into the matter. Thank you for any advice. — B. A.

Going In Circles Is No Solution

DEAR B. A.: Somehow your story brings to mind the saying: "A rolling stone gathers no moss." Perhaps the reminder is sparked by your statement: "My problem is — I don't know where to go from here." Of course I realize you were speaking figuratively; but there may be an element of literalness too, in the image of being "on the go."

A satisfactory life isn't achieved in terms of pursuing happiness; or chasing contacts and trying to take profit from them. Or trying to arrange a new set of circumstances, a new and different social status, and so on. Rather, a worthwhile life consists in having roots in relevant relationships; and in growing, unfolding, become "a real person" with reference to the self you are, essentially. It is a matter of fledging out, in a more or less consistent framework of experience — to which additions may be made, from time to time.

Has Been Fending Against The Past

A satisfactory life is never a case of skittering about the landscape of the human scene, trying to latch on to "a good thing." As of now, it appears that you are a loner in life — cut off from social roots, in your present situation. By which I mean, you aren't associated, on a residential or visiting basis, with either family or friends or kissing kin in this vicinity — as a woman might be, who was "a native of the community," with a happy heritage.

The fact that you are an outsider socially, with no "in" anywhere on the score of emotional security, and that your habitual loneliness is getting worse, and that you've had psychiatric help for several years, suggests that your early life was disadvantageous to your development — to put it mildly.

Prove Popularity

Roman coins unearthed at the medicinal springs of Bañerico de Panticosa, high in the Pyrenees, prove that this resort was popular in the first century.

Nickel Improves Bronzes

The strength and toughness of bronzes and bronzes can be increased through the addition of relatively small amounts of nickel to these alloys.

Be A Friend To Everyone

Thus, your unhappy present is probably only a continuation of your equally (or more) unhappy history. So what to do? Well, recognize that you are at grips with the proposition of making a life for yourself, as best you can. And begin precisely where you are, being a thoughtful, helpful, non-self-seeking person, in relation to any and all who cross your path. This is "really living."

Also, use your leisure to learn the techniques and power of prayer. To start, you might read Emmet Fox's brochure "Stake Your Claim" (Harpers). — M. H.

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Peggy Jo Troutman vs. Paul C. Troutman and Mabel C. Gilliland vs. Leslie O. Gilliland.

Research and development expenditures in the United States in 1956 again set a new high record with a total of $6.5 billion, according to Department of Defense figures. This was more than 3 times the total a decade ago.

French High School Girls Wearing Hose In Colors

PARIS — (INS) — French high school girls will show off their nylon hosiery in red, green, blue legs this year. But instead of yellow will be a fad this autumn shortening their skirts, they will turn with fashion and leg-consciousness in color.

Longer skirts among the Paris teen-age crowd are still a sign of "growing up" which no girl would endanger by wearing the match her sweater rather than her skirt. A forest-green pullover, for example, will be worn with a light-grey flannel skirt and forest-green ribbed nylon stockings. A red jersey blouse will look smart with a navy-blue jersey skirt and red wool stockings.

A turtle-necked blue sweater has been shown in a junior fashion parade with a straight skirt of blue and black plaid blanket wool worn with blue stockings. Bright yellow ribbed nylon hosiery was teamed with a yellow jersey shirt and a brown and yellow tweed skirt worn with matching tweed coat.

UNDERSTANDS HUSBAND'S PROBLEM — Mrs. Percival F. Brundage, wife of the budget director for the United States, has kept a strict family budget for 39 years. Sometimes, she admits, it gets out of balance.

Budget Director's Wife Budgets Both Time, Money

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Percival F. Brundage, wife of the director of the Bureau of the Budget, understands some of her husband's problems in trying to balance Uncle Sam's budget. She has a little budget of her own.

"I've lived by a budget for 39 years," Amittai Brundage told me. "It hasn't always been easy to balance it. Sometimes I slip up and borrow from 'miscellaneous', but it's the only way to live. It gives you peace of mind. You know where you're bound."

Getting used to counting pennies and knowing each was earmarked for a definite use — food, clothes, fun, savings and so on — wasn't easy at first for the youthful accountant's wife just setting up housekeeping in New Jersey back in June, 1918.

"Like a lot of young folks, I thought budgeting sort of held you back," she explained, "but my husband kept me to it, strictly. Now I do it unconsciously. I've had to make changes now and then. Here, I have to keep a closer one. Living costs are higher. Our income is lower. There are always extras too, we hadn't counted on."

Brundage who has had over-charge of preparing the Eisenhower administration's budget for the 1958 fiscal year beginning July 1, has been working all hours, "early, late, everyday, Saturdays, Sundays, ever constantly, with very little chance to relax," according to his wife.

So now Amittai Brundage has two budgets. One for money, one for that even more precious commodity, time.

It is important, she said, that everyone have time to himself. Officials have to be in public life, she admits, but they don't have to accept all invitations and they have to know enough to go home at a decent hour. They should bypass the trivial. This takes a pretty strong character, planning, and doing as you planned.

The Brundages have a married son and daughter, and four grandchildren. He is an amateur artist of distinction. She is taking lessons. She plays tennis regularly. He enjoys golf when he can. Both are accomplished folk dancers, having mastered intricacies of the native dances of some 30 different countries, during the 23 years of their membership in the celebrated Cosmopolitan Club of Montclair, N. J. The Brundages, also expert square dancers, have joined the capital's increasing ranks of do-si-do enthusiasts.

Both Jacob Women's League will sponsor a public card party tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. at Claryville Inn.

The Friendship Circle Bible Class of Park Place Methodist Church will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the church.

Tips On How To Select TV Set Outlined

NEW YORK — (INS) — The care and buying of a television set needs as much planning as any other piece of furniture on display in your home.

Here's some advice for those few who haven't yet acquired the TV habit, or those planning to get new sets. If you go shopping during National Television Week, Sept. 8-14, begin the expedition by taking a close look at the style and color of your room, then buy accordingly.

A portable is good for double duty, as between kitchen and porch or from living room to bedroom. A table model is handy if you have a broad bench that is strategically placed. A console, on the other hand, gives you a real piece of furniture.

The first requirement in placing the set in your home is that it should be visible from all parts of the room. If you like to have friends in, or have a large family, arrange furniture accordingly. A swivel chair, or one on casters, can come in handy.

Try to avoid reflection on the picture. Opposite a blank wall is best, but if it must go opposite a window, curtain or drape the glass with a translucent fabric to cut glare. If the set is in front of a window, use a narrow drape to emphasize the picture.

Correct Portions, Size Help Youngster Learning To Eat

By VIRGINIA KACHAN CHICAGO — (INS) — When your child is old enough to feed himself, make it easy on him — and yourself — at mealtime by cutting portions and bites to his size. Meals and vegetables should be sliced into pieces convenient for either fingers or spoon. Bread and butter made into sandwiches and cut into strips save crumbs and tempers.

Mrs. Rita McGreer, dietitian at the University of Illinois Child Development Laboratory, says youngsters like to know exactly what they are getting. In introducing a new food, a spoonful or bite at one time is recommended until the children remember the taste and like it. If, after several introductions, a child still won't go for a vegetable, find a substitute. For example, sweet potatoes and carrots have many of the same nutrients.

In serving salad items, Mrs. McGreer says preschool children are more likely to eat wedges, slices or sticks of fruits and vegetables which they can pick up with fingers.

"A child who has been playing hard all day — running, skipping, jumping — needs substantially the same kind of dinner as his parents," said Mrs. McGreer.

This, she said, should include a meat or meat substitute, vegetable, salad, bread, milk as a beverage and dessert. The most popular desserts among children attending the university's Nursery School are fresh fruit, fruit cup, jello, vanilla ice cream and apple crisp.

Chain-Handled Evening Bag Back In Style

NEW YORK — (INS) — The chain-handled reticule is coming back into style as an evening bag . . . and that should be mighty good news for men who hate having their dance partner rest her loaded purse on their neck.

"We only made two chain-handled evening pouches last season," says Sylvia Brightman, sales manager for a bag concern (Brytemode). "Now we've got six different versions of the chain-handled bag."

The easy-to-carry bags, last popular back in the 1920's, are made of "shiny" duramesh brass in five, seven and nine-inch widths. Some are pear-shaped reticules of the metal mesh; others are triangle-bottomed pouches. All have brass frames, satin linings and brass chain handles about nine inches long.

Miss Brightman credits the revival of the chain-handled bag to a revival of ballroom dancing. She points out that the new gold or silver models weigh only five ounces and dangle easily from the elbow.

"If you ever had to carry a clutch bag onto the dance floor," she notes, "you appreciate a handle. And I guess women are tired of sacrificing convenience for style; they're asking for handles."

The Progressive Young Women's Club will meet Friday at 8 p. m. at the home of Carlton Helmick, McMillen Highway. Plans for the fall program will be announced by Mrs. Edward Shaffer, club president.

The Potomac Valley Lay Health Group will meet September 12 at 1:30 p. m. at the Cressknap School Health Center, according to Mrs. James Armstrong, chairman.

Traffic Docket Heavy

August proved to be another busy month for area police in the field in motor violations, with the two local magistrates hearing a total of 192 cases through yesterday.

Fines imposed by Magistrates Donald W. Mason and J. Milton Dick totaled $2,139.

Although the magistrates were busy last month, the record was set in July when cases handled in the courts reached 337. Fines on these violations hit the all-time high of $5,338 for a one-month period.

During July, Magistrate Mason handled 199 cases while Magistrate Dick presided over 138.

June also proved to be another month in which a large number of motorists appeared in court on violations.

For this period Magistrate Mason handled 151 violations and imposed fines of $1,564.90 and Magistrate Dick had 81 cases and set fines totaling $1,363.05. The total for June was $2,927.95.

The books were closed at the courts for the week Friday because of the Labor Day holiday. The courts are normally open on Saturday mornings.

Youths Admit Setting Series Of Fires

Two boys, nine and ten years of age, admitted to having set several fires in Fisher's Woods off Oldtown Road after being picked up for questioning by Detective Joseph H. Stichter.

The boys, who were released in the custody of their parents, started the fires while playing with matches, Detective Stichter said.

Firemen from South End have been plagued with fires in Fisher's Woods since August 21 and have made nine trips to the scene in the 10-day period. They received a call to the woods yesterday afternoon and remained at the site about five hours. Two trips to the wooded area near Mapleside were made Thursday.

"Mealtime U.S.A."

COOKING SCHOOL

it's coming soon . . . facts and fun for you

Yes, indeed, Mrs. Homemaker, "Mealtime U. S. A." is something really different . . . four days of fun and facts about kitchen lore, designed all for you! You'll hear about a host of new and exciting recipes . . . recipes gathered from all across the nation, typical of the best in eating from coast to coast. You'll have a chance to hear a nationally-known home economics expert tell you about what's new and up-to-the-minute in food preparation.

There'll be more, too, for you at "Mealtime U. S. A."! There'll be valuable assistance in those ever-present food buying problems . . . scores of ideas on how to plan your daily menus . . . the kind of practical and down-to-earth ideas that you can put to good use in everyday living.

And a host of sparkling features through the four fascinating sessions of "Mealtime U. S. A." See how a few deft garnishing touches can lift humdrum dishes into the "company" class. See for yourself how easy and how much fun cooking for the family can be, as each dish is prepared from start to finish before your eyes on the cooking school stage.

There'll be valuable gifts, besides. This gala event is truly the last word. So plan now to attend all four big sessions. You'll have the time of your life!

Accident Caused By Smoke Screen

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP) — A city truck emitting clouds of white fog exterminating insects rolled along East Main Street.

Behind it, into the white cloud, drove Sammie Massey of Rock Hill.

Behind him, into the white cloud, drove Joe H. Workman of Rock Hill.

Inside the white cloud there was a loud noise, as if metal were striking metal.

When the cloud lifted, there sat Massey and Workman in their bruised automobiles. Each estimated damage at $200.

What To Wear

Bright-Striped Blazers Back On Male Horizon

By DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK — (NEA) — When Casey used to wait with the strawberry blonde, he would make no impression whatsoever without a blazer-striped jacket. Those were the gay 90s, of course, and the blazers were about the gayest things around.

Since then, sports jackets have sobered up considerably. But there seems to be some evidence that a revival of colorful jackets may be coming. Already, the happy colors of madras patterns have found their way onto many jackets.

And a few daring designers are coming out with modernized versions of blazers. Most of them are made from colorfast yarns, which helps. Since Casey and his blazer were in vogue in the days before colorfast products were used, he must have looked a mess after a shower.

But now the bright stripes will survive any rain.

They won't survive a bad selection of accessories, however. If you've got a gaudy sports jacket, be careful how you wear it. Don't team it with a gaudy sports shirt. Keep subdued—white or a soft and solid pastel in a color that will go well with the basic color of the jacket. Similarly, select your slacks with care.

You'll find a bright jacket is a useful item in your wardrobe. It somehow makes you feel brighter, too.

Science is doing a lot to make living more comfortable, and the odds are pretty good they'll lick the stain problem yet.

On an ordinary suit, if you spill some ink or ketchup or salad dressing, you're in for a complete cleaning job. But now there's a new fluid developed by Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, that may change all that. The liquid, called Scotchgard, is applied to fabrics and supposedly renders them impervious to most stains, at least temporarily. You just wipe out the spot with a clean, dry cloth and you're good as new.

Already, some suits and blazers and sportswear are being manufactured with Scotchgard added. Time will tell how long the initial treatment lasts, but it seems to be a step in the right direction.

ATOM UNIT HEAD? — The United States is campaigning to obtain the post of director general of the new International Atomic Energy Agency for Rep. W. Sterling Cole, above. The New York Republican has informed his constituents that he is prepared to resign from Congress to accept the position.

Pro-Prepared
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — A tornado forecast found Civil Defense units here fully prepared. The forecast came during "Operation Alert," a Civil Defense test, with all units in action. There was no tornado.

NEW VERSION of classic blazer has narrow lapels, slant pockets.

The catchword in the fall suit line is "elegance." All the factors that go into the making of a suit—design, tailoring, color, pattern, fabric—are pointed toward that somewhat exclusive quality.

Colors are medium to dark. Patterns feature stripes, some with multi-colored stripes. Fabrics that are due for a big splash are tweeds and flannels. Silk will be blended into many of the fabrics. The design still leans toward Ivy League styling; this year, the narrower look will even be extended—in a modified way—to the larger "stylish stout" sizes.

So, when the leaves begin to fall, it will be time for you to be elegant. Whatever that is.

Rattlesnakes Taken To Church Services

ARENA, Wis. (AP) — Woodrow Roberts took his rattlesnakes to church here but it didn't do the reptiles much good. They just rattled and writhed all through the services.

The Rev. Gene Kordick, pastor of the Arena Bible Church, said he'd never had such competition before.

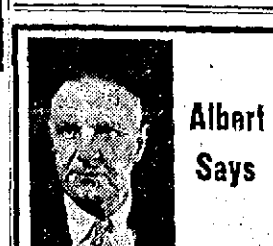

Roberts, who stopped for services on the way to a reptile farm, kept the three snakes in a glass topped container.

Beall And Hyde Named To Capital Committee

Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, both Maryland Republicans, have been named to a six-man Congressional committee to study the snowballing problems of the nation's Capital.

Rep. Hyde was the author of the resolution creating the committee which will take a "metropolitan view" of considering Washington's problems in common with neighboring Maryland and Virginia communities.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

AND, OF ALL LAXATIVES, only COLONALD, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONALD's great moistening capacity plus COLONALD's stretch-stimulating bulk that activates normal colonic reflexes. So effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight. COLONALD is yet so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONALD neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT! Exercise tones your body! And COLONALD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONALD in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

BERNARD E. SITTER

Sitter Named To Managing Editor Post

Bernard E. Sitter has been named managing editor of The Cumberland News according to John J. McMullen, president of the Times and Allegany Company, publishers of the Times-News papers.

He succeeds A. T. (Gus) Brust Jr., who resigned as managing editor of The News last November 16 to become public relations director at Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Mr. Sitter joined The News in September 1947 as a proofreader. In February 1948 he became a reporter. He worked in that capacity until the outbreak of the Korean war, when he was called to active duty with the Marine Corps Reserve.

After service as a public information man in the United States and the Territory of Hawaii, he was discharged as a staff sergeant in 1951.

He rejoined the staff of The News, and in December 1953 became acting city editor. He was appointed city editor November 2, 1956.

Mr. Sitter, 28, is a 1946 graduate of Allegany High School, and received his associate in arts degree in 1956 at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sitter, 400 Piedmont Avenue, and is married to the former Miss LaVerne Lashley of Mt. Savage.

Britain Turning To Sea For Food

LONDON—(UN)—Britain, with only enough arable land to feed half her population, is turning to the sea for new harvests.

Some nutrition experts forecast that the nation will one day get the bulk of its food from the sea bed. Experiments in the farming of sea crops are now underway.

A Southampton University research team is cultivating sea plants in tanks of sea water in the grounds of a generating station at Poole, Dorset county.

This is Britain's first large-scale attempt to grow sea plants with a view to them being used as food. Results to date reveal that it is a definite possibility.

The sea plants would not be eaten like raw salad, but the plants would be compressed, dried and processed to provide a powder rich in protein. Some of the plants treated in this manner taste rather like yeast.

Health Department Held 221 Clinics For Infants

A total of 221 clinics for infants were held last year by the Allegany County Health Department.

The clinics were attended by 7,926 children during the fiscal year which ended June 30, according to a report submitted recently by Mrs. Jennie Grahame, executive assistant for the department.

The Health Department routinely schedules 21 Well Baby clinics each month at 16 health centers throughout Allegany County.

The health centers are located in City Hall here, in schools here and throughout the county and in rented buildings, fire halls and churches.

At the clinics designed solely for well babies, each baby receives a physical examination and is given necessary immunizing shots.

These include vaccination against smallpox, DPT shots to protect against diphtheria, whooping cough and typhoid, and polio vaccination.

Nutrition of the child is discussed with the parents during the clinics.

When a defect is found during the well baby clinics, children are referred to specialized clinics or agencies.

The department held 22 prenatal clinics which were attended by 282.

Services included a complete physical examination for all new patients, a chest X-ray and Rh factor and Wasserman tests.

Calcium and iron tablets are given to those needing the medication and routine follow-up examination.

Iron Workers Have New Apprenticeship Program

Local 568, Iron Workers Union (AFL-CIO) will place in effect this month a revised apprenticeship program.

The plan provides for a three-year apprenticeship after a six-month probationary period, up a year from the existing system.

George E. Clark, business agent and union chairman of the Joint Apprenticeship Committee, said the plan was worked out recently with J. W. Hardesty, St. Louis, Mo., apprentice director of the Iron Workers.

W. Bruce Douglas, representing the Hazelwood Construction Company, will serve as the Employer chairman for the program, Clark said.

Classes for first year apprentices will be held on Tuesdays at 7 p. m. and for second and third year apprentices on Fridays at the same time.

Instructors will be furnished by area contractors and the union for classes in mathematics, blue prints and trade practices in the field and for safety practices by the Maryland Safety Council.

The union expects to have about 24 apprentices enrolled in the program, Clark said, but the number attending classes will be higher, since a number of members plan to attend to brush up on the subjects.

McKay Calls 'The Verdict' Toughest Job

BY WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's newest programming stunt is a double earful of work for ad-lib veteran Jim McKay.

"Toughest job I ever had," he cheerfully vows, taking off the headphones. "All that gabble in one ear, all those performers in the other."

McKay is anchor man on "The Verdict is Yours," the Columbia network's attempt to shake up the afternoon format and entice housewives away from all those soap operas.

"The Verdict" bowed in yesterday. The basic idea is to submit legal trials to viewers in unheated format. From the director down, no one will know when a case begins how many days it will take, what will happen next on camera, or what the solution will be.

Actors are being used only for the parts of plaintiff and defendant. Real-life lawyers will be the attorneys, barristers or retired jurists the judges. The jurors are to be picked from the opening day studio audience.

"They will have to agree to come back daily until the case is finished," warns McKay, "and they will be paid just about what real life jurors get. We don't want to spoil them."

McKay, who is 35 and has been doing CBS news and sports programs since 1930, has the chore of pulling together all the vagrant elements and providing the continuity.

The initial case concerns custody of a youngster, is expected to take about eight days on the air.

The republic of Uruguay, from 1828 to 1831, was called the Cisplatine republic. It was so called because, when belonging to Brazil, it was known as the Cisplatine province.

Two Teachers Appointed To Cumberland Schools

Two Frostburg residents have been named to teaching positions in the elementary schools of Allegany County, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Harriett Dickey has been assigned to teach at Johnson Heights School. In 1949 she graduated from Calvin Coolidge High School in Washington, D. C., and received her B. S. degree in elementary education at Wilson Teachers College, Washington, in 1953.

She furthered her studies at the University of Maryland and did practice teaching at Langley Park Elementary School, West Hyattsville and Thomas Stone Elementary School at Mt. Rainier.

David L. Phillips, who graduated from Beall High School in 1952, has been appointed to teach at West Side Elementary School. In 1956 he received his B.S. degree in elementary education at Frostburg State Teachers College.

During the past year he taught sixth grade subjects at Weller Road Elementary School, Silver Spring. He did his practice teaching at the Lab School in Frostburg and also at Cresaptown Junior High.

Report Says N.Y. To Lose Shipping

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Fenn College Bureau of Business Research for the Council of Lake Erie Ports predicts that Chicago and Cleveland will replace New York as the shipping center of the world with completion of the St. Lawrence seaway.

The Fenn analysis came to this conclusion from replies to a questionnaire on shipping practices sent to some 2,000 exporting and importing firms in the Lake Erie region and to Latin America.

A decentralization of shipping activities now centered in the East and Gulf Coasts to ports along Lake Erie is forecast in the study.

3,000 Nickel Alloys

There are in use today more than 3,000 alloys containing nickel in varying proportions — ranging from 99.7 per cent in malleable nickel to 0.020 per cent in a hardenable silver alloy.

New Nickel Project

It is estimated by International Nickel that the initial yearly production rate of nickel at its new project in Manitoba, Canada, in 1961 will approximate 60,000,000 pounds.

Citizens Vote To Picket Two Integrated Schools

EASTON, Md. (AP)—The Talbot County Citizens Assn. has voted to picket two elementary schools here when they open Thursday if Negro children attend.

The vote was taken at a special meeting of the group last night in the event segregationist Bryant Bowles fails in preventing the Negro children from returning to classes.

Bowles, president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, told a meeting of the Citizens Assn. last week that he "would get the Negroes out" of the schools if given $5,500. He didn't say what the money would be used for.

Eleven Negroes attended Talbot County schools last year and are scheduled to return Thursday.

Henry Spies, presiding at last night's meeting, said since they didn't know how Bowles' plan was developing they "had better go about making plans to picket."

The schools singled out for picketing were the Hansen Street and Idlewild Avenue schools here. There was discussion of picketing the elementary school in nearby Oxford but the group was told it was doubtful Negroes would attempt to attend the school.

Midwest Boasts Father-Son Team

CHICAGO (INS) — Membership in the Midwest Stock Exchange is a family affair for seven proud papas.

Each is half of a father-son combination holding membership in the exchange. The seven teams represent a total of 211 years of service.

The pair with the most combined years of service is Ralph W. Davis and his son Scott. Their total is 45 years.

The other six family teams, with the senior members listed first, are: Elmer A. and E. Alan Kutzka, 37½ years; Fred D. and Dodd Sadler, 37½; August I. and Robert Jablonski, 31; James C. Dougall Sr. and Jr., 17½; and David G. and Malcolm Skall, 13½.

To avoid broom-closet clutter, provide a hang-up place for every item with a handle. Various clips for hanging them, ranging from mop to bottle-brush size, may be obtained from a hardware store.

To keep dirty wash-up jobs out of your clean, shining sink, keep a detergent near an outdoor faucet. Use a large-mouthed can with a rain-proof lid.

Reddick Faces Medical License Sale Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Reddick, a Maryland psychiatrist, has been arrested here on charges of conspiracy to sell medical licenses.

Reddick, 43-year-old Baltimorean, already was under court order in his home state not to take part in any future licensing.

Dr. Reddick was fired as psychiatrist at Maryland's Eastern Shore State Hospital, the state's 1957 General Assembly abolished the Homeopathic Licensing Board which he had headed, and he is awaiting trial on perjury and conspiracy charges in Maryland.

Held with Reddick in Central Jail, without bail, is 38-year-old John F. Stratham, a musician who said he is a physician licensed in Maryland and a naturopath licensed in Florida. The District attorney's office said no date for court appearances has been set.

The two were picked up Friday night by Byard S. Woodruff, an agent of the California State Medical Board, and Lt. Frank Cunningham of the police hunko squad. They were arrested in the office of an osteopath, Dr. Frank G. Nolan.

Cunningham credited Dr. Nolan with valuable assistance, said he bought one of the medical licenses assertedly offered by Reddick and Stratham with $750 furnished by investigators.

The men were arrested when they took the money, Cunningham said. Police confiscated more than 20 checks of undisclosed amounts from Dr. Reddick — most of them issued by Californians.

Police said Reddick told them he represents the Maryland State Homeopathic Society's Board of

Death Claims Six Area Persons In Accidents

Local Girl Victim In Washington

Man Struck While Repairing Jeep At Corriganville

A former local girl and an Ellerslie man were fatally injured yesterday in two separate accidents.

Harold (Wally) McClure, 47, Ellerslie, was crushed to death while painting his jeep in the Corriganville Fire Hall, while Miss Betty E. Root, 19, of 1421 Harvard Street, Washington, was killed when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by a speeding auto in Washington.

Emrick was Allegany County's only fatality over the Labor Day weekend.

Struck By Friend

Tic. Joseph V. Stakem of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said: Emrick was painting his jeep on the ground floor of the fire hall when a friend of his, Floyd Willout, 41, of RD 1, city, drove his jeep into the garage.

Trooper Stakem said Emrick had his back to the door and when Willout applied his brakes they failed. Emrick was crushed between the two vehicles.

Trooper Stakem said Willout attempted to use his hand brake, but it also failed.

The two men were reported good friends. Both were members of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company.

A native of Ellerslie, Emrick was born May 19, 1910, a son of Mrs. Anna (Snowden) Emrick, of Ellerslie, and the late Edward Emrick. He was employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Survivors include a son, Pvt. Terrence Emrick, Camp Gordon, Ga.; a brother, Marshall Emrick, Chester Springs, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. W. O. Rush, Ellerslie. He was a member of the Reformed Church of Ellerslie and Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose of Cumberland.

Services Thursday

Services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at the residence by Rev. Carl Clapp. Interment will be in the Porter Cemetery near Ellerslie.

Miss Root, who resided at 100 Pennsylvania Avenue, until she moved to Washington three months ago, was graduated this past June from Fort Hill High School.

The accident, according to the Accident Investigation Division of the Washington Metropolitan Police, occurred at 10:35 p. m. yesterday at the intersection of Third and Gallatin Street.

Miss Patricia Moore, 16, and Miss Mary Griffith, both of Washington, were critically injured in the accident. Police said Miss Griffith was operating the car.

Police said the car was hit broadside by an auto operated by Harrison Payton, 28, also of Washington.

The man suffered only a lacerated chin, but the three girls were taken to Emergency Hospital where Miss Root was pronounced dead.

Two Remain Critical

Washington police said the condition of Miss Moore and Miss Griffith is critical. Miss Griffith suffered a possible fractured pelvis, while Miss Moore sustained a fractured pelvis and back, multiple contusions and internal injuries.

Police said Payton is being held for driving at an unreasonable rate of speed.

Miss Root was born in Cumberland on April 2, 1938, a daughter of Lakin and Edna Grace (Adams) Root, of 100 Pennsylvania Avenue.

She left Cumberland three months ago to accept employment in a Washington drug store. She was a member of Kingsley Methodist Church.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, Edward L. Root, at home; two half-sisters, Mrs. Audrey Starnick, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Eva Mae Plummer, this city; and her paternal grandfather, William Root, this city.

The body will be brought to the Hafer Funeral Home.

Residents Seek City Water Tap

The request of a group of eight property owners along Oldtown Road for a tap on the city water line to the North Branch plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company was referred to William J. Edwards, city water commissioner, and other city officials for appropriate action.

Elmer Holler appeared for the eight residents and said they would like the line to their homes at their own cost if the city would grant the tap which exists on the property of Russell Jones.

The residences are in the vicinity of the Davis Memorial Methodist Church.

KILLED OVER WEEKEND — Harold (Wally) Emrick, 47, Ellerslie, left, and Miss Betty E. Root, 19, Washington, formerly of this city, died as the result of two separate accidents over the Labor Day weekend. Emrick was killed while painting his jeep at the Corriganville Fire Hall yesterday afternoon, while Miss Root was fatally injured yesterday when the car in which she was riding was hit broadside by a speeding auto in Washington.

Hospital Needs Land Title To Get $120,000 Ford Grant

Use of money from the Ford Foundation for the expansion of a section of Memorial Hospital hinges on the Mayor and Council deeding a small parcel of land to the hospital's Board of Governors.

This was the essence of a letter read at the pre-council meeting of the mayor and commissioners this morning.

State Toll Stands At Six Victims

Traffic Accidents Account For Half; Two Are Drowned

By The Associated Press

Maryland's accidental death toll for the Labor Day holiday stood at six as the 78-hour weekend came to a close at midnight Monday.

Traffic accidents involving riders of motorcycles and bicycles accounted for three deaths and two persons drowned. In addition, a volunteer fireman was killed by a jeep in the basement of an Allegany County fire hall. His death was not counted as a traffic fatality by State Police or the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Paul Burke, chairman of the safety commission, said just before the weekend came to a close: "Three deaths is a sad thing, but if we wind up with that total it will be far better than over an average weekend."

Fatal In 40 Hours

Burke said about six or seven traffic deaths occur during an average weekend of 52 hours. The holiday weekend, which for statistical purposes began at 6 p. m. Friday, ran 24 hours longer than that.

The safety chairman noted that not a single motorist was killed and added that the commission's educational campaign will be directed more heavily toward cyclists.

Maryland went more than 40 hours before recording its first traffic deaths, two teen-age Negro boys who were riding the same bicycle which collided with a car on a hill in Carroll County Sunday.

They were identified as Bernard Jackson, 13, of Mariettaville and Charles W. Robinson, 14, of Sykesville.

An 18-year-old girl from Prince Georges County was the other cyclist killed. Margaret Peggy Rhodes of Hillcrest Heights died in Baltimore's University Hospital Monday night in a motorcycle accident in Anne Arundel County.

Riding On Rear

Police said the girl was riding on the rear of the vehicle which failed to negotiate a turn at Dealers, ran off the road and overturned. The driver, Paul V. Piper, 19, of Washington, was injured.

One of the drownings occurred in the Potomac River Sunday morning at Taylor's Landing. Edwin Wendell Miller, 51, of Route 5, Hagerstown, fell overboard when he lost his balance while poling his fishing boat to shore.

Also drowned was a man identified from papers as Rube Raymond Collins, about 50. His body was taken from the Baltimore harbor Saturday.

County Board Accepts Bid For Three Cars

The bid of Gulick's Auto Exchange, city, on three used autos was accepted today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The bid was $1,333 for two 1954 Fords and one 1953 Chevrolet.

The cars had been used by personnel of the County Health Department.

Other bids were Thomas E. Smith, LaVale, $1,000; Roy Means, Columbia Street, $750; Lee Russell, city, $301.53 for the Chevrolet; Wayne A. Riggelman, city, $526 for a 1954 Ford; A. Roy Franklin, Fairview Avenue, $175 for the Chevrolet; M-G-K Motors, $200 for a 1954 Ford; Johnson Auto Exchange, city, $500 for a 1954 Ford; Charles D. McElfish, Bedford Road, $812 for all three cars; John B. McFarland Jr., Pine Avenue, $225 for a 1953 Chevrolet and $305 for a 1954 Ford; Leslie C. Antower, Route 1, city, $410 for a 1954 Ford.

Cresaptown Firemen Seek Company Fund

The Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company begins a fund-raising campaign tonight when firemen will visit homes to leave coin cards.

The cards contain 16 slots, each holding a quarter. At the end of 16 weeks the cards will be collected and it is hoped residents will have filled the slots with quarters by that time.

According to Chief H. A. Lasher, campaign chairman, this is the first of a series of annual drives. Those who desire to do so may make their full contribution when the firemen make their first call.

Lasher pointed out it is the first money-raising drive conducted by the company in 15 years. The company maintains three pieces of fire-fighting equipment and retains two employees who receive calls.

Increases in costs have made it necessary to conduct the campaign.

If any residents who wish to donate are missed, they may obtain cards by telephoning PA 4-3953.

State Police Halt 300 Cars In District

The work of State Police in Allegany and Garrett counties over the Labor Day holiday weekend was the most intense in years and more than 300 motorists were stopped.

Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks, said 23 troopers were on patrol during the weekend. The traffic flow was the heaviest in many years for a holiday period, Lt. O'Hara added.

State Police had a total of 120 arrests and tickets issued to motor law violators. At the same time they issued warnings to another 200 motorists. The names of these persons issued warnings have been reported to the Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles and will be officially recorded.

Lt. O'Hara said there were 12 accidents in the area, most of them of a minor nature. The one fatality at Corriganville was listed as a non-highway accident, as it occurred at the garage of the Corriganville Fire Company.

Here for the holiday patrol was Captain Charles W. Magaha, troop commander. He and Lt. O'Hara toured both counties during the height of the traffic flow to coordinate the work of the 23 troopers.

Road Blocks

Road blocks were put up on highways in the Virginia and West Virginia area around Winchester today after two armed men robbed a grocery store on Route 522 two miles west of the Virginia city about 7 a. m.

West Virginia State Police at Romney reported an alarm was received shortly after the two men robbed the store. One of the men, wearing a khaki shirt and carrying a blue steel revolver, went into the store while the other stayed in the car with the motor running.

Sgt. Charles Burke of the West Virginia State Police at Berkeley Springs, said the two men were Negroes and were about five feet, nine inches tall. They were traveling in a light blue Dodge car which was from a 1948 to 1950 model. It had District of Columbia license plates.

The name of the grocer had not been obtained, Sgt. Burke said. The man was counting his money at the time he was accosted. The armed robbers got away with $1,400 in cash.

Keyser Man Killed By Fall In Cave

Group Warned Not To Enter Cavity By Speleologists

A 22-year-old Keyser man was fatally injured Sunday afternoon when he fell 180 feet into Hell's Hole Cave in Pendleton County, W. Va.

Cpl. F. W. Armstrong of the West Virginia State Police said the victim was Robert Wesley Keplinger, Keyser. The cave, Cpl. Armstrong said, is located near Franklin, W. Va.

Cpl. Armstrong said Keplinger and four companions, Richard Liller, Raymond L. Murray Jr., Richard Cook and Leo Liller, all of Keyser, were exploring caves in the area Saturday and Sunday.

The group of Keyser men ran into several members of the National Speleological Society which was holding a convention in the area. Members of the society advised the Keyser men not to enter Hell's Hole Cave, Cpl. Armstrong said.

Police said after entering the cave the men came to an abrupt ending of the trail and Keplinger fastened a rope to his body and started to climb down. He was lowered some distance and when he started back to the upper floor his hands apparently slipped and he fell, police said.

A group of the "spelunkers" from Pittsburgh used rope and other equipment to pull Keplinger's body from the cave.

He was a native of Keyser and a 1953 graduate of Keyser High School. He had been employed as a carpenter and gunsmith and was a member of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Survivors include his parents, Harry H. and Mary Margaret (Poiper) Keplinger, Keyser; four sisters, Mrs. Helen Smith, Baltimore; Mrs. Jeanne Shingleton, Romney; and Miss Joe Anne Keplinger and Miss Mary L. Keplinger, both at home.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church in Keyser by Rev. Robert L. Briggers, pastor. Interment will be in Queen's Point Cemetery there.

The body is at his parents' home, 175 "D" Street, Keyser.

Board Grants License To Mrs. Durkin

The Allegany County Board of Alcohol Beverage License Commissioners today granted a beer, wine and liquor permit to Ruth Virginia Durkin, trading as Ruth's Tavern, 27 Williams Street.

Mrs. Durkin has had a beer and wine license at the Williams Street location for almost 20 years. The liquor license is the one formerly held by Mrs. Mary E. Reed, for premises at 52 North Centre Street. Mrs. Durkin has purchased the Reed business and will transfer it to her establishment on Williams Street.

The board also heard a request from Halie E. Buster for reconsideration of the rejection of her application for a beer license, for a tavern about 10 miles east of Cumberland on the Oldtown Road.

The board rejected her application August 22 on the basis that there were less than 500 people residing within a one-mile radius of the premises. Leslie Clark, attorney for the woman, told the court that his client claims there are at least 500 residents within the prescribed area.

After hearing the plea the board instructed the two liquor board inspectors to check the area to make a final determination of the number of people in the area.

New Offices Times-News To Be Opened

Effective tomorrow the business, classified advertising and circulation department of the Times-News will be located on the first floor in the new building on Baltimore Street.

The display advertising department of the Times-News is on the second floor of the new building with an entrance from Baltimore Street. The editorial department of the newspaper will remain on the second floor of the building with the entrance remaining on South Mechanic Street.

Five Persons In Hospital After Wrecks

Five persons were hospitalized as the result of three separate automobile accidents in the area on Sunday.

Wilbur G. Stickler, 49, and his wife, Mrs. Winona Stickler, 45, of Hyattsville, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital after the auto in which they were riding went out of control and over a 100-foot embankment on Martin's Mountain. They were released yesterday.

Charles R. Mitchell, 40, Baltimore, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser following a similar accident on U. S. Route 220 near Keyser.

Fred Smith, 52, Rivesville and Jose Role Jr., 34, also of Rivesville, were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital following a head-on collision on Water Street in Keyser Saturday night.

Mitchell suffered lacerations of the face and possible chest injuries. His condition is listed as "fair" at the hospital, where X-rays were taken.

The accident within the city limits of Keyser occurred Saturday night involved a truck and automobile.

Police said Jonathan Paul Haun, RD 2, Rivesville, was the driver of the truck, and Grover Boyce, 48, of RD 4, Keyser, was driving the car.

The truck was travelling south and attempted to pass a couple of parked cars turned into the opposite lane into the path of the car which was also passing the parked cars.

James Spurling, Keyser City Police officer investigated.

City Council Passes Sewer Plant Order

The Mayor and Council today approved an order officially accepting the new sewage treatment plant.

A letter recommending the approval of the plant was received by William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property on August 5 from the consulting engineer on the project, Robert T. Regester, Baltimore.

Today, before the order was put to a vote, John J. Long, finance commissioner, asked Buchholz why there had been a month's delay in getting around to pass on the plant's approval.

Buchholz answered that there were some adjustments to be made, and he added he did not want the approval made until they had been fixed.

Long also pointed out that insurance coverage on the plant begins today, with the acceptance of the plant.

He said the underwriters have placed a cash value of $981,681 on the facilities that cost $1,600,000 to install.

In Regester's letter, he also recommended payment to the contractor, Mayer Brothers of Altoona, of the final estimate, less five per cent of the overall cost.

This five per cent will be held for a year as a performance bond under the contract specifications.

Council Gets Bid On Paving

The Cumberland Contracting Company was the apparent low bidder on a project to improve Memorial Avenue from Kent Avenue to Oldtown Road.

Bids were opened this morning by the Mayor and Council, with Cumberland Contracting submitting a $14,665, and the S. T. Brotemarkle and Sons Contracting Company, $19,429.

The work entails the paving of 960 feet between Kent Avenue and Oldtown Road, with curbing and guttering to be installed between Kent Avenue and Arundel Street, a distance of 450 feet.

40&8 To Meet

Volture 164, Forty and Eight, will meet today at 8 p. m. at 113 Harrison Street.

Three Die In Somerset Road Wreck

Garrett Woman Killed When Car Skids Into Another

Three persons were killed in Somerset (Pa.) County highway accidents Saturday and Sunday.

The victims were Miss Wanda Lou Sam, 18, Garrett, Pa.; Bruce Mostoller, 38, of RD 5, Somerset, and Harry R. Pritts, 64, of Somerset.

Miss Sam was fatally injured when a car in which she was riding skidded Sunday and struck the front of an oncoming vehicle driven by Mrs. Myrtle Sanner, RD 1, Rockwood, on Pennsylvania Route 653 near Rockwood.

Thrown Out of Car

Miss Sam was traveling with Norman Brant, RD 1, Garrett, and both were thrown clear of the car. Brant is reported in "fair" condition this morning in Somerset County Hospital with head injuries and internal injuries.

Carl Hutchison, RD 1, Somerset, and Raymond W. Pyle, Safety Harbor, Fla., stopped at the scene of the accident. Another vehicle driven by L. R. Sipple, RD 4, Meyersdale, struck the rear of Hutchison's car, pushing it against Pyle's car. Emerson Dummeyer, RD 1, Somerset, a passenger in the Hutchison car was slightly injured.

Miss Sam was a native of Garrett, and a daughter of Mrs. Dorothy (Haer) Steinley and the late Paul Sam.

She was graduated from Meyersdale High School in 1956 and was a student at California (Pa.) State Teachers College.

She was a member of the Central Lutheran Church.

Besides her mother, she is survived by her stepfather, Oscar Steinley, and three-half brothers, Dwight, Wayne and Larry Steinley, all at home.

Services Tomorrow

The body is at the residence. Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Central Lutheran Church by Rev. Glenn Keidel. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mostoller and Pritts were fatally injured when a car driven by Mostoller's brother, Harold Mostoller, RD 2, Eriensville, Pa., collided with a truck driven by Michael Krivak of Cairnbrook.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 30 about 14 miles south of Somerset Saturday.

State Police said the driver lost control of the car and it hit the truck being driven in the opposite direction. After striking the truck, the car continued and sheared off two telephone poles.

Harold Mostoller and Richard Pritts, 33, of RD 1, Somerset, were hospitalized in Windber Hospital following the accident.

City Receives Payment For Removed Sand

The first royalties from city-owned land on Walnut Island in the Potomac River were received by the Mayor and Council from the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

One check for $147.23 for excavation of sand and gravel from the property during July and another for $528.35 for August work was received.

During August 8,805 cubic yards was removed from the island, and during July, 883.38 yards. Under the terms of its lease with the company, the city gets six cents a yard for all material taken from the river.

The information on the revenue was presented to the council along with the August report of William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property.

Buchholz listed 1,007 streets cleaned, 46 alleys, and two catch basins cleaned.

Forest Avenue leading from Valley Road to the new Northeast School was graded, chipped and oiled according to the city engineer's specifications.

In flood control maintenance in a new section added this year to the Street Department, ten gravel pits and 16 siphons were cleaned and the blocks were changed in six siphons.

Ten sewers were opened, five bored out, three sewers renewed, two complaints investigated, and one sewer tap installed.

Insolvencies Granted Four By Council

Four insolvencies were granted today by the Mayor and Council in its meeting devoted mainly to routine matters.

One was for $81.22 sewer lien on the property of Walter F. Donley, Lot 31, Meran Addition. A lien has been paid by the property owner on one street sewer already on the back part of this lot, it was pointed out.

In another insolvency, the tax collector was allowed a credit of $28.38 on the paving lien against the Jennings House property on Frederick Street. The original lien was for $193, but it should have been $164.62.

Two others granted the collector on Frederick Street liens for a total of $13.14.

Parking meter receipts for the week ending August 27 were $775.15, down $62.73 from the previous week.

Guy Long, city weighmaster, reported collections of $120.29 at the city scales from July 11 to August 2.

The city engineering department took in $431.60, during August, of which $279.60 was for 17 building permits, and $150 for cash bonds, Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, reported.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery listed collections in his office of $1,736.90 during August of which $1,131 came from the bingo tax and recreation tax on bingo game attendance.

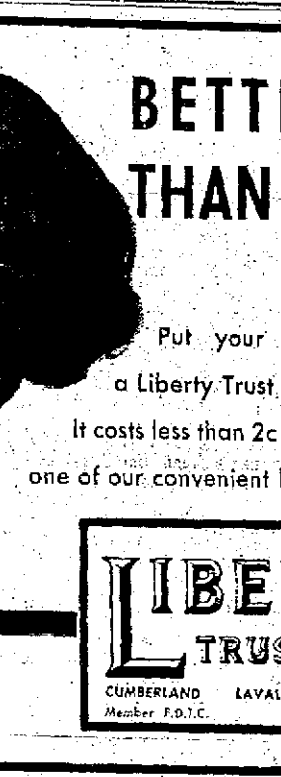

Deer Fawn Wanders

A deer fawn wandered off Wills Mountain yesterday into the Fairview Avenue section near St. Patrick's Cemetery and after jumping over several fences became entangled in a wire fence.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke was called but by the time he arrived the fawn extricated itself and sped back into the mountain fastness.

Braves Could Boast Murderers' Row For Series

Milwaukee Runs Wild But Yanks Lose Pair

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Milwaukee Braves, who have virtually sewn up the National League pennant, may be bringing a modern day version of "Murderers' Row" into the World Series.

The Braves generally were regarded in pre-season ratings as a "good pitch, not too much hit" team, but they've astounded the experts by their lousy slickwork. They gave a tremendous example of hitting yesterday when they clubbed 26 hits, including two homers, to crush the Chicago Cubs, 23 to 10, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Then, as if to prove that they have just as much pitching power, the Braves blanked the Cubs in the second game, 4 to 0, on Bob Trowbridge's three-hit pitching.

The hitting explosion lifted Milwaukee's league lead to 8½ games. The Braves, who have only 24 games still to play, lead both leagues in homers (173) and in runs scored (677).

Six other teams—Cleveland, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and the New York Giants—also swept double-headers on Labor Day, but the club that wanted a sweep most, the Chicago White Sox, could do no more than split.

The Braves, who fell five short of the league record for runs in one game by a team, started right in on Bob Rush, scoring six times in the first inning. Wes Covington and Ed Mathews later homered as the Braves scored in every inning but the fifth. Ernie Johnson won in relief of Lew Burdette.

Frank Torre tied a big league mark by scoring six times while Covington and Hank Aaron each drove in six runs. Ernie Banks hit two Cub homers. Covington drove in two more runs in the nightcap as Dave Hillman took the loss.

Cincinnati swept St. Louis, 10 to 5 and 3 to 1, with Frank Robinson's 10th-inning homer winning the second game. The Phils walloped 31 hits to crush Brooklyn, 10 to 4 and 7 to 4, and the Giants bombed Pittsburgh, 11 to 5 and 4 to 3, on the home run power of Hank Sauer, Willie Mays and Johnny Antonelli.

The Orioles beat the New York Yankees, 8 to 7, in 11 innings and then made it a sweep with a 6-to-1 win. The White Sox and Billy Pierce beat Detroit, 8 to 2, but the Sox stayed 4½ games behind the Yanks when Frank Lary and the Tigers won the second, 5 to 4. Boston swept Washington, 7 to 1, and 6 to 7, and Cleveland took two from Kansas City, 8 to 0 and 6 to 3.

The Yanks, in losing their first doubleheader in 14 this season, blew a six-run lead in the opener and then were helpless in the second before the eight-hit 14-strikeout performance of Connie Johnson. George Kell had six hits and seven runs batted in for the day.

Mickey Mantle, still suffering from ship splints, got only one hit in six trips in the opener and struck out as a pinchhitter to end the nightcap. As a result his average dropped four points to .373 and Ted Williams, in bed with a chest cold, regained the batting lead with his static .376.

Pierce won his 18th, tops in the majors, with the aid of homers by Minnie Minoso and Sherm Lollar but roundtrippers by Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Ren0 Berioia ruined Dick Donovan in the second game.

TRAFFIC JAM AT THIRD—New York Giants' Willie Mays, 24, slides back to third base where teammate Hank Sauer, 6, is already perched as three Pittsburgh Pirates surround them in seventh inning of second game at Polo Grounds yesterday. Pirates' catcher Harding Peterson, 17, lagged both men and umpire Dusty Boggess, right, called Sauer out.

Pirates' shortstop Dick Groat, top, moves in with third-baseman Gene Freese. Jam started when Daryl Spencer singled to right with Mays on second and Sauer on first. Spencer was trapped off first when he turned. Mays started for home, only to be trapped. He got back but found Sauer there.

Patty Declines Talk Of Joining Cup Team

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Budge Patty, a handsome, mustachioed world traveler from Los Angeles who makes his home in Paris, also is one of the finest tennis players operating outside Australia.

He's playing in the national championship here this year for the first time in five years and the U. S. Davis Cup bigwigs would dearly love to have him join their ranks. Even though he's a not-so-young 33.

"I would rather not talk about the Davis Cup," said Patty today, while waiting to take the court for his round of 16 match against Canada's Don Foulton. "The less I say about it the better."

But Gardner Mulloy, Patty's 44-year-old doubles partner, confides that Budge is all set for the trip Down Under—provided he knows he's going to play and not be forced to go through a tryout.

Right now my biggest worry is my back," said Patty, who yesterday had a rough time before outlasting Grant Golden of Evanston, Ill., the No. 10 player in the country, 6-3, 8-10, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6. "There's a torn muscle in my spine and it's been giving me all sorts of trouble."

Steelers Win Over Eagles In 17-12 Game

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's Steelers finally have a game in the win column of the National Football League exhibition standings after turning back the Philadelphia Eagles 17-12 in the only game played Labor Day. For the Eagles it was their fourth setback without a victory.

In making their pre-season record 1-2, the Steelers overcame a 0-10 deficit at the end of the first quarter for a 14-10 halftime lead and then added a fourth period field goal by Gary Glick.

Henry Ford scored the first Steelers' touchdown from two yards out and Perry Richards the second on a 34-yard pass from Ted Marchibroda.

The Eagles scores came on a 36-yard touchdown run by rookie Billy Barnes, a field goal by Bob Walston and a safety in the closing seconds of the game.

Games over the weekend saw the San Francisco 49ers defeat the Cleveland Browns 21-17 for their third straight victory on Sunday. Saturday the Detroit Lions also won their third straight, defeating Washington 31-14 while the Los Angeles Rams walloped the Chicago Cardinals 63-21.

ODC, Elks Launch Finals In 'Chair Loop This Evening

Unless the Elks break their drought against pennant-winning Outdoor Club in the Rocking Chair Softball League, manager Cecil Grimes' swatters will retain their double laurels in the circuit as the best-of-five finals get underway this evening at Stitches Field.

Outdoor Club bagged all three meetings against Elks during the season with 9-2, 5-2 and 8-0 decisions. ODC, losing only one game in 28 during the pennant race, carries a 16-game win streak into today's lidlifter while Elks have taken their last seven in a row.

ODC swept through three-place Veterans of Foreign Wars in the semi-finals, 5-1 and 10-4, while Elks eliminated Pittsburgh Plate Glass, 12-2 and 15-4, in their rounds.

Elks, managed by "Tag" Reel, won 22 and lost six during the season, finishing four games behind Outdoor Club.

Victors expected to see action in the series which will run through Friday and then on Monday if it goes the distance, are "Pistol Pete" Elliott (11-0), Glenn Kauffman (10-1), Charley Day (2-0) and Jim Morrison (4-0) of Outdoor Club along with Dick Klavuhn (15-5), Bill Underdonk (4-1) and Jim Gaffney (2-0) of Elks.

Charley (King Kong) Keller, back with the New York Yankees as a coach, has shown his affection for the team with which he rose to fame in the baseball world by naming his modest Frederick breeding nursery "Yankee Land Farm."

Keller, who was plucked off the campus of the University of Maryland by the Bombers, spent ten years patrolling the Yankee Stadium outfield.

He also received four World Series checks from the Yanks and, harrasing some sort of a miracle, is due to get a share of another fall bonanza in a little more than a month from now.

Keller says he will attach the prefix "Yankee" to all trotters and pacers raised on his farm.

The U.S. Trotting Association already has registered the first two "Yankees." Keller's first ar-r, a son of Meadow Pace-Isa-bel Star, has been named Yankee Star. The second foal is Yankee Queen, a filly by Direct Rhythm from Meadow Meda.

The former slugger, whose 33 homers in 1941 were four less than hit that year by American League leader Ted Williams, claims he has no plans for racing any of his own stock. The bushy-browed Keller, who will be 40 next week, prefers to sell his yearlings at auction.

There is also a strong possibility that the Yankee tag will be applied to one of his offspring. Charley, Jr. is a clip off the old baseball block and is already ticked for the Yanks after he receives his degree four years hence at Maryland.

It is not known whether young Charley plans to play basketball at Maryland, as did his dad. Old Charley was a pretty fair cager, but he never saw the day he could pour points through the net with the rapidity that has marked his son's play.

Young Charley was by no means a one-man-team for Homer Brooks last season, but no one can dispute he was the sparkplug that enabled the Frederick Cadets to capture their first state championship.

Sports Keg Residue

Georgie Hale, Allegany High School's leading pitcher during the 1957 baseball season with a record of four wins and no setbacks, is getting his mail these days at Paris Island, S. C.

Georgie also won a game for the Centerville Reds in the Pen-Mar League before enlisting in the Marine Corps. . . . Remember Keith Mauzy, the speedballing Flintstone lefthander with the pump-handle windup? . . . Keith looked like a real pro pitching prospect when he was hurling for Flintstone back in the days before America entered World War II. . . . In fact, he did take a fling at organized ball, but got homesick and returned. . . . During the war, Mauzy, a bomber pilot, was shot down over Germany. . . . Now he is a 245-pound trucker, living in Everett and working out of Bedford.

Mauzy is remembered in Cumberland for the pitching hatlles he waged against the Old Exports in the old Tri-County League and for the long homer he belted at Stitches Field. . . . Keith was the first batter ever to hit a ball over the right-field bank in the air at the North End lot. . . . A local young mother experienced a big thrill last Friday when she talked with Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon in the dining car of a B&O train enroute to Baltimore. . . . The two Boston Red Sox stars gave her their autographs and before leaving the car she declared, "Mr. Williams I hope you get a lot more hits than Mickey Mantle."

The Thumper, who along with other members of the Red Sox team were headed for the Monumental City to open a series with the Orioles, flashed a big smile and added a polite "Thank you." . . . Ted hasn't faced too well since then, however, as he has been incapacitated with a heavy cold the past few days. . . . The age of the push-button cans has finally worked into football. . . . When there's a timeout on the gridiron this fall and you see the trainer rush out and start spraying the athletes, the contents will be ammonia to put new life in groggy halfbacks and tackles. . . . Back on the bench will be other cans. . . . There, by the simple expedient of pushing a button, feet can be toughened against blisters, pain of cuts and bruises can be eased and backs who fumble will be given a dose that will make the ball stick to their hands. . . . As Chet Smith of the Pittsburgh Press puts it, "Time" doesn't march on—it squirts."

Torre Proves Pennant Aid To Milwaukee

By International News Service
The Milwaukee Braves feared their run production would suffer when Joe Adcock broke his leg, but substitute Frank Torre has proven to be far more than a fancy fielder.

With Adcock out of the lineup, the Braves called on Torre to fill the void and he has done a good job. He has batted .288 and has delivered many timely hits. And he hasn't hurt run production any.

The 25-year-old lefty first baseman proved that conclusively yesterday when he collected four hits and scored six runs as Milwaukee crushed the Chicago Cubs, 23 to 10.

The six runs in one game ties a major record held jointly by Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Johnny Pesky of the Boston Red Sox.

The 6-foot-3, 200-pounder was born in Brooklyn, home of the Dodgers, but signed into the Braves organization in 1951. He batted over 300 that year but spent 1952 and 1953 overseas in Korea with the Army.

He batted .294 with Atlanta in 1954 and was promoted to Toledo the next year, where he upped his average to .327. In 1956, he made the varsity where he made himself useful as a late-inning defensive replacement for Adcock.

Sports Cars Prep For Watkins Glen

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (Special)—The tenth annual Watkins Glen Grand Prix Sports Car Road Races, a national championship event of the Sports Car Club of America, will be staged at this Finger Lakes resort community Friday and Saturday, September 20-21.

The nation's oldest sports car event, this year's Grand Prix will not only celebrate the 10th year of racing at the Glen but also the rebirth of road racing in America following World War II.

Over 100 of the nation's foremost SCCA drivers have entered the fall racing classic, with a field of over 225 expected by race day.

Driving three D Jaguars from New York City will be Briggs Cunningham, internationally known racer and 1948 Grand Prix driver. Walter Hansgen, 1953 Prix victor and one of the year's leading SCCA drivers; and either John Fitch, veteran Glen driver, or Phil Hill who drove the experimental MG racing car on Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats this summer.

Paul O'Shea, of Port Chester, N. Y., SCCA point champion for the past two years and three time Glen winner, will return with his Mercedes Benz. George Weaver of Boston, Mass., only American driver to race here every year, and only driver to win four Glen events, will compete in his "Polsen Lil" Maserati.

George Constantine, of South Bridge, Mass., last year's Grand Prix winner; Howard Hanna of Broomall, Pa., who finished second in class in the 12 hour race earlier this year; and Dr. M. R. J. Wyllie, of Allison Park, Pa., three time Glen winner and member of the national SCCA contest board, are also included among the 102 entries received to date.

The Jockeys Hall of Fame was founded at Pimlico Race course in 1955.

Old Exports Avenge Loss, Topping Front Royal, 6-4

Barrelville's Old Exports atoned a 13-0 loss suffered August 2 in Front Royal by turning back the Virginians in a return baseball game yesterday at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 6 to 4.

In contrast to the one-sided contest of last month which was played under the lights, yesterday's battle was a nip-and-tuck affair that the Exports won with a four-run outburst in the sixth.

Jesse Markley, little fireballing right-hander of the Pen-Mar League club, hurled the first six innings and got credit for the win. Markley struck out six of the visitors and Billy Habrelein, his relief, whiffed three.

Front Royal tallied once in the first and Barrelville knotted it in the second. Barrelville pushed over another singleton in the fifth, but the Virginians came back with three in the top of the sixth.

"Windy" Windham doubled to start the sixth and Chink Wines followed with a home run over the right-field fence. Bobby Navarro, who shut out the Brewsters in the first game, fanning 19, smacked a three-bagger and Riddle sent him home with a single.

Navarro played the outfield yesterday, "Col" Coffman going the route for the Virginia club. Johnny Horvath whacked a three-bagger to start the Exports' half of the sixth and Ronnie Cage poked a double. Successive singles by Woody Woodson, Leroy Morrissey and Markley completed the four-run damage.

Wines was the game's batting star, collecting three singles in addition to his homer. Riddle had two singles. Morrissey had three singles for Barrelville, while Woodson and Cage each had a double and single.

The Exports were strengthened by the addition of third baseman Ed Parsons who just returned from Olean, N. Y., where he played his first season of organized ball in the Class D New York-Penn League. Parsons got one hit and was robbed of another when Front Royal center fielder Riddle made a sparkling over-the-shoulder catch of Ed's bid for an extra-base knock. Paul Stickle also made several nice catches in center for the Exports.

Yanks' Late Player Raids Under Attack

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (INS) — Casey Stengel is not a youngster any more, and his Yankee bosses have been most thoughtful in giving him Sal Maglie to delight his old age and improve his slumbers.

As a Yankee, Stengel is accustomed to luxury, but scarcely such regal opulence as is represented by Maglie, a $25,000-a-year ballplayer who cost a bundle of cash and two minor league prospects—and won't even be eligible for the World Series.

With a reasonably secure lead and fresh from a crushing sweep of a series with their only challenger, the Yankees are running unaccountably scared in the homestretch. But aside from the comfort it must give Stengel, there is nothing good to be said about the World Champions' latest talent coup.

Such maneuvering is the worst possible testimonial for baseball. It divests the pennant races of all semblance of hand-to-hand athletic competition and places them on an unmistakable cash-and-carry basis.

What price a magnificent effort of bone and sinew, the exciting spectacle of a manager manipulating his troops to rise above their shortcomings and win with what he has. The bulging pocket-book speaks more loudly.

This is no new discovery for the fan, but it is wise to keep reminding him so blatantly? The Yankees' late-season talent forays have become a trademark and have helped, in varying degree, to perpetuate their remarkable span of championships. This dominance has been a source of profit and pride to proprietors.

But it cannot, in the long run, be good for the American League or for baseball. Callous though the Yankees have been about flashing their hefty bankroll, they are no more to blame for the state of affairs than the other clubowners off whom they falter.

If the others cannot out-spend the Yankees, they presumably still can out-vote them. In fact, they actually did enact a new waiver rule a few years back, supposedly to block just such nefarious Yankee raids upon the resources of the other league.

Every other club had to waive, on Maglie before the Yankees could deal for him. Nobody apparently cared or dared to claim him and thwart the big bad Bombers.

Such a move by even the lowliest of them would have been no more than a gesture of defiance, and perhaps they, too, wanted to assure Stengel's peace of mind. But it would have been a refreshing sign of something other than abject surrender.

'Lost' Freshman Pleasant Surprise At West Virginia

By The Associated Press

West Virginia Coach Art (Pap-py) Lewis got the most pleasant surprise yesterday as pre-season football practice got off to its usual easy-going start at most stops in the Southern Conference.

The surprise actually started on Sunday when Buck McDaniel, an All-West Virginia schoolboy end in 1956, reported in for drills. Lewis had thought he'd lost McDaniel to the University of Tennessee.

Lewis' pleasure was intensified at the start of practice sessions yesterday when McDaniel, shifted to halfback, reeled off several lengthy runs in a 10-minute full-scale scrimmage for the 31 Mountaineer frosh.

Fresh Spell Virginia
It's unlikely McDaniel will see any varsity action this season, since West Virginia doesn't use freshmen, even though under Southern Conference rules they're eligible to play. But in Lewis' plans for the future, the Oak Hill, W. Va., swiftly can loom mighty large.

Yesterday's first practice for the Mountaineers at the camp at Jackson's Mill found the freshmen exhibiting University of Virginia plays in a dummy scrimmage. West Virginia opens against Virginia on Sept. 21.

The healthiest squad to turn out on practice opening day was at William & Mary, where Coach Milt Drewer exulted because of the generally excellent physical condition of his 67 candidates.

VMI Turnout Largest
Passing, punting and fundamentals drew emphasis. VMI had the largest turnout—68 in all. Coach John McKenna said he found the players in pretty good physical shape "for this time of the year."

The Keydet freshmen, 23 in number, went through three drills while the varsity held two.

Furman ran through play patterns with Coach Homer Hobbs praising his probable starting backfield of halfbacks Jerry Penland and Bill Weir, quarterback Bill Baker and fullback Jimmy Grant.

Davidson Coach Bill Dole started his search for a quarterback as Davidson launched drills. Sam McGurt, Charlie Benson and Tom Cutting are the principal candidates.

Conditioning exercises and drills in passing, punting and blocking highlighted the opening practice at Richmond, where 48 turned out as expected. Coach Ed Merrick

Driver Killed At Darlington

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — A brilliant, steady performance by one of the wild men of stock car racing won the tragedy-marked eighth annual Southern 500 here yesterday.

Speedy Thompson of Monroe, N. C., driving a Chevrolet, went home with the top take of $13,450 and a new race record of 101.1 m. p. h. in his pocket.

Death rode the rails to the horror of the estimated crowd of 70,000 when a three-car pile-up on the 28th lap of the six-hour grind proved fatal to Bobby Myers, 33, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

His death was the first in the eight-year history of the event. Cotton Owens of Sparta, S. C., starting on the pole, finished second for $5,850 in a Pontiac. Coming in third in a Ford was Marvin Panch of Gardena, Calif., for $3,375 of the $33,000 purse.

Trade Talent Of Baltimore 'Kills' Yanks

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—It is next to impossible to recall all the baseball trades made by Manager Paul Richards, but one of them made a bid for distinction yesterday.

It supplied the Baltimore Orioles with virtually enough talent to hand the New York Yankees their first double-header loss out of 14 this season, 6-7 and 6-1.

The trade was made a year ago May by Richards with the club he formerly managed. He gave Chicago outfielder Dave Philley and pitcher Jim Wilson for third baseman George Kell, outfielder Bob Nieman and pitchers Connie Johnson and Mike Fornieles.

This year, he swapped Fornieles to Boston for Billy Goodman and cash.

All four — Kell, Nieman, Goodman and Johnson — were stand-out contributors to the Labor Day downfall of the Yankees. Kell batted .300 in the first game, and hit six home runs in each game. Two of the runs, in the bottom of the ninth, tied the score 7-7 in the first game.

Goodman led off the 11th with a single that turned into the winning run. He also had singled in the ninth and scored.

Nieman chipped in with three hits in the attack.

In the second game, Kell and Johnson were more than a match for the Yankees alone although Goodman wasn't idle with two singles. Kell drove in three runs and Johnson held them to one in the ninth while striking out 14.

It was the most Yankee batters to strike out this season and gave Johnson a total of 150, second to Early Wynn of Cleveland.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks must have had a premonition of what was in store. Asked before the double-header about his imminent future pitching plans, he replied, "Gosh, I can't tell. You never know what's going to happen here."

Wichita Hurler, Carlton Willey, 'Most Valuable'

DENVER (INS)—Carlton Willey, Wichita's 20-game winner, was named today the American Association's Most Valuable Player for 1957.

League headquarters at an almost unanimous choice of baseball writers. Outfielders Don Demeter of St. Paul and Ray Shearer of Wichita, and second baseman Curt Roberts of Denver received one vote each.

The 26-year-old fastballer, who won only five victories last year against 10 setbacks, started this year with 11 straight wins.

His 20th victory was a two-bitter Aug. 28 against Louisville. He has lost six games.

Other American Association pitchers in the last 10 years who have won 20 games were Herb Score (22-5 with Indianapolis in 1954); Gene Conley (23-9 with Toledo in 1953); and Ed Brault (21-5 with Kansas City in 1952).

Willey, a native of Cherryfield, Me., began his pro career with Eau Claire in 1951, moved to Atlanta in 1952, spent 53 and '54 in the Army and worked the 1955 season at Toledo.

Only three other pitchers have won the most valuable title, the others being Score, Conley and Steve Gerkin in Minneapolis in 1947.

Round Table To Run In UN Handicap

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—Round Table, fresh from his smashing victory over Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege, will be flown to Atlantic City for the invitational $100,000 United Nations Handicap on Sept. 14.

Round Table, which whipped Iron Liege in the American Derby by Saturday, is regarded as a leading claimant for three-year-old honors.

The colt carried 125 pounds for the American derby but he will be asked to pack only 118 pounds for the mile and three-sixteenths United Nations over the grass course.

Lacy's To Drill

Lacy's Delicatess, who have entered the Western Maryland softball tourney, will practice tomorrow, 5 p. m., at Fort Hill Field. Don Ritter will manage the Delicatess.

Chicago's Big 'Cap Taken By Pucker Up

CHICAGO (INS)—A Washington Park crowd of 33,381 saw Mrs. Ada L. Rice's brilliant four-year-old filly, Pucker Up, win the $117,900 Closing Day Handicap yesterday in a breeze.

Favored Swoon's Son was third while Calumet Farm's Fabian ran out of the money.

That generally has been the story during the 95-day Chicago summer season. Calumet Farm failed to win a big race although some of its horses won some minor stakes.

Mighty Swoon's Son, top candidate for Handicap Horse of the Year, failed miserably while Kentucky Derby king Iron Liege just never quite made the grade.

Rank outsiders and supplementary entries captured most of the big races at Washington and Arlington while the odds-on favorites, disappointed their backers once too often.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's stable emerged as a big money winner while Fred W. Hooper's once-beaten two-year-old colt, Alhambra, apparently stands a good chance to nail down the juvenile championship along with Mrs. George Zauderer's filly, Poly B.

Mrs. Rice's speedy filly, Pucker Up, ran to death Swoon's Son and the rest of the nine-horse field yesterday to come out on top in the race for the $117,900 winning purse.

Alfred G. Vanderhill's seven-year-old gelding, Flnd, beat out Swoon's Son by a half-length for place money.

Pucker Up, a 5-1 third choice, received a fine ride from jockey Willie Shoemaker who never has won a major title.

Mayne observed that Fraser was not at his best, which certainly was true.

Otherwise the top operatives sailed through their matches: Vic Seixas of Philadelphia dropped Armando Vieira of Brazil, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., turned back Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 8-6, 2-6, 6-1, 7-5 and Dick Savitt of South Orange, N. J., whipped Ramanathan Kirshman of India, 6-1, 8-6, 7-5.

Top-seeded Althea Gibson of New York paced the women into the third round with a 6-0, 6-1 decision over Elizabeth E. Lester of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Stringtown, Penns Will Meet In Series

Stringtown, an entrant from the County Softball League in the Western Maryland tourney, will meet Fossilville (Pa.) in a best-of-three series with the opener set for tomorrow, 5:45 p. m., at Stringtown.

The second contest will be on the Pennsy diamond Friday with the site of the third game, if needed, to be determined by the flip of a coin.

All Stringtown players are to report tomorrow at 5:30.

Officials, Coaches Meet

The Potomac Valley Football Officials Association and area coaches will meet today, 7:30 p. m., at the Central YMCA to discuss rules and changes for the coming grid season.

Children Entering Hospital Need Explanation, Briefing

ANN ARBOR—(INS)—Children about to enter hospitals for operations should be carefully prepared for the experience by their parents.

Dr. James L. Wilson, a University of Michigan pediatrician, says such preparation can save the child and parents unnecessary grief and misunderstanding.

Dr. Wilson suggests parents be honest with the child and try to explain things to him in a matter-of-fact, simple way.

Careful consideration should be given, he states, to the age of the child and how much the parents and family doctor think he will be able to understand.

Complete parental understanding of why the operation is necessary is important before mothers and fathers try to explain the surgery to the youngster, according to Dr. Wilson.

It is not necessary to tell the child the whole, vivid story.

Courtroom Drama Has Makings Of Good Show

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—The first new TV show of the season, "The Verdict Is Yours," a courtroom drama with real lawyers, a jury selected from the studio audience and what is left of the latter serving as trial spectators, would have been better if CBS hadn't interrupted it so many unexplainable times just to simulate commercials.

The CBS-TV program is a "simulated, typical" courtroom drama utilizing Jim McKay as a sort of court reporter calling the shots between the improvised lines. This carries simulation a bit too far.

Each of these daily episodes will tell its full tale by Friday of each week. Essentially it is a very good idea, indeed far better during its performance yesterday than it seemed in the face of its unexplainable interruptions.

The first trial could have been copied from recent headlines—about a mother trying to get back her baby, being raised by another couple. Some of the free-form acting (the actors and lawyers improvise their lines from a random framework rather than a fixed script) was a bit heavy, but most of it had a ring of reality. That is, if it weren't for the irritating pseudo-commercials.

Jim McKay also tended to make the mistake of many sportscasters—recounting for us what we'd just seen and heard on the TV screen. It's an interesting experiment, and would have a far better chance if the story could be told a little more simply.

Kukla, Fran & Ollie aren't fading off TV. They were signed for two Perry Como Shows, Sept. 28 and Oct. 5.

Yoli Berra turns actor, playing himself in a "Biko" episode filmed this week.

The Bobettes on Dick Clark's ABC-TV "American Bandstand" yesterday had a riotously rhythmic wallop. The dancing kids on this teen-age catchall seem neater and nicer than on other such shows.

Studio One's "Dark Intruder" tipped its neurotic mitt minutes after it began. Squeezed between the cliché and the eye-rolling direction, Charles Korvin couldn't save it even with good acting. TV sets in the U.S. now top 40,100,000... 467 stations in 264 cities.

Stan Musial's TV asking price has bounced up to match his batting average: $1,000... Steve Allen signed the Harlem Globetrotters for Oct. 20 and Jack E. Leonard for Nov. 20... When they finish starring in "The Bells Are Ringing," Betty Garrett and Larry Parks fly to London for two TV appearances on the top British variety, "A Night at the Palladium"... Nat King Cole's new Tuesday premiers has been set back to Sept. 17, when Tony Martin will be Nat's guest...

Air Force Tries 'Machine Men'

DENVER—(INS)—Machines used to teach Air Force trainees "have some advantages over human instructors," says a Lowry Air Force Base official.

Norman A. Crowder of the staff of the Maintenance Laboratory of the Air Force Personnel and Training Research Center at Lowry, says machines "can be infinitely patient, can adjust to the pace of the student, they are always consistent and there is no danger of a conflict in personalities."

His comments referred to three automatic learning devices being tested at the laboratory.

Crowder says the devices, built to train Air Force maintenance workers, can reproduce as many as 8,000 pages of information on plates rather than the conventional strips. Each plate contains a multiple-choice question.

The student selects an answer, punches the proper page number, and if he is right, the new page presents another problem. If the student guessed wrong, the new page explains why.

That frees the instructor to spend more time with each student on more complex problems.

Life In Rome Calls For Use Of Multitude Of Keys

ROME—(AP)—The key to living in Rome is—strangely enough—a key.

There are keys for everything and you can get literally locked out of life if you don't carry a pocketful.

Back in the United States you might get by with a key to your house and a key to your office. Not in Rome.

It takes no less than three keys to get home if you happen to be an apartment dweller who uses an elevator. There's a key to the apartment house, a key to the elevator, and a key to your apartment door.

Take the refrigerator. The Italian ones generally have locks, making it tough if you want a midnight snack in a hurry. By the time you find the key you've lost your appetite.

One office door key may not be enough. You may need one to the building—if you happen to work on weekends. The chances are you'll need a third key—for the elevator—every day of the week if you want to avoid several flights of stairs.

But that isn't all. Lots of things that usually go without locks in the United States have them in Rome.

Take the refrigerator. The Italian ones generally have locks, making it tough if you want a midnight snack in a hurry. By

Two Receive Jail Sentence At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Trial Magistrate Fred Crowe this morning sentenced two young men to 30 days in the county jail, and gave a third suspect a similar sentence which was then suspended due to his having no previous police record.

Franklin Turner, Glenn Whitefield and Peter Airhart were picked up by Officers John Kerr and Karl Hetz after an intensive investigation which lasted several days.

At about 2 a. m. Friday, Charles Day, who resides at 59 Mt. Pleasant Street, was awakened by loud conversation. Looking out of his window, he saw what appeared to be three young men endeavoring to remove a wheel from a parked car.

He immediately called the police and several other neighbors, who were also awakened, turned on the lights in their homes. The trio became alarmed and fled.

A gasoline can was found at the scene by the officers when they arrived, and from the description furnished them by Day and residents of the section they began their investigation which resulted in the arrests yesterday.

Whitefield, who is a minor, has been before the court three times in the past year, according to Judge Crowe. Airhart has been before the court twice in the past year.

Judge Crowe, in passing sentence on the trio, stated that they "had better mend their ways immediately, or they would be spending their lives behind the bars."

Turner, who is also known as "Doozy" Preston, has never been charged with any previous offense. He was given a suspended sentence.

The suspects were accused of "milking" gasoline from the car, and making an unsuccessful attempt to remove a wheel from a car.

New Sewage Disposal Plant Scheduled For Moorefield

MOOREFIELD—Citizens of Moorefield were called to a recent meeting with the Mayor and Council in regard to the installation of a sewage disposal plant. The session was held to give residents information regarding something that the State Water Commission has stated must be done, and not to decide upon whether or not Moorefield needs the plant.

P. W. Clarke, mayor, presided and presented the situation as it now exists. Moorefield must install the plant. In 1934 a preliminary survey was made by a Keyser firm and the estimated cost was approximately $125,000. Today, the same type of plant will cost $146,000. A federal grant of approximately $45,000 is practically assured to assist in the costs.

Discussion was held as to the method of financing the project and Senator R. J. Bean moved that a committee of citizens be appointed to work with council in deciding (1) the area to be served and (2) the most practical way of retiring the indebtedness. He suggested that the committee be composed of representatives of industry and business and citizens. The motion carried.

It was also brought out that Moorefield's filtration plant, which is only seven years old, is proving inadequate for the needs of the community. At present the plant pumps 17 and 18 hours a day and the need increases daily. The Loevegart plant has indicated that its needs will increase, to meet this, the plant will have to operate 24 hours a day and even then there will be no surplus for any emergency that might arise. Greater storage and pumping facilities are needed.

Several suggestions are being considered: To increase the plant by one half; to double the capacity; to add a 200,000 storage tank or to increase the plant and add a storage tank. The firm of Kelley, Gidley and Staub of Charleston is making a survey which will be completed by October 1, and will give council definite information concerning the present and future needs of the community.

Council is authorized to issue the necessary bonds to take care of both of these community improvements, but it was felt that citizens should be informed as to the need and what was being done at this time.

Priest Given Garrett Post

OAKLAND—Rev. James Daniel Mehring is the new priest in charge of the Episcopal diocesan missions in Garrett County, it has been announced by the Episcopal Commission on Publicity in Baltimore.

He will hold services at Anderson Chapel, Swanton; Our Father's House, Allamont and St. John's Chapel in Deer Park.

He has assumed the duties formerly held by Capt. Henry Howard of the Episcopal Church Army. Howard was transferred to North Carolina after serving in this county for over two years.

Rev. Mehring was born July 4, 1928, in Plainfield, N. J., was graduated from Florida Southern College, Lakeland in 1952 with a Bachelor of Science degree, had clinical training at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, and was graduated from the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., in 1955 with a degree of STB.

He was ordained deacon by the Rt. Rev. Nobel C. Powell, DD, bishop of Maryland, and priest by the Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, DD, suffragan bishop of Maryland. He has been assistant minister at Church of the Good Shepherd, Ruxton, since 1955, where he worked with the Young People's Group and clergyman in charge of the Church School services. He has worked with the Young People's conferences and helped in the diocesan teacher training program.

Keyser Guard Inspection Slated Today

KEYSER—Battery C of the 201st Armored Field Artillery, National Guard, will be checked today by a representative of the Inspector General's Department, Headquarters, Second Army, Fort Meade, according to Capt. Henry L. Will, local commander.

The event, an annual check of function and performance, will consist of inspection in ranks and a question and answer period. During the evening drill, regular scheduled classes will be conducted and graded for over-all effectiveness.

The purpose of the inspection is to check all phases of military administration, supply maintenance and personnel appearance in the battery. All vehicles, weapons and equipment will be checked for cleanliness.

The unit received a superior rating at the 1957 summer encampment at Camp Breckinridge, Ky.

The armory inspection will be performed during the afternoon, while conduct of drill and military courtesy will be checked during the evening session which begins at 7:30 (DST).

Federal Use Tax Forms For Truckers Due

Owners of registered highway motor vehicles of Maryland and the District of Columbia which have a taxable weight of more than 26,000 pounds, have until Tuesday, September 3, to file Form 2290, "Federal Use Tax Return on Highway Motor Vehicles," for the tax year beginning July 1, 1957.

Irving Machiz, acting director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, said the taxable gross weight of trucks and truck-trailers is determined according to the empty weight and the number of axles.

He pointed out the tax applies to the use of single-unit trucks with empty weight of 13,000 pounds or more, and truck-trailers with empty weight of 5,500 pounds or more.

Machiz explained that the Highway Revenue Act of 1956 requires form 2290 to be filed for all taxable vehicles in use during July of each tax year, and an additional form 2290 to be filed for each month in which additional vehicles were put in use. The returns must be filed and the tax due paid on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the vehicle is first used.

The due date for tax year which began July 1, 1957, is Saturday, August 31. Usually when the due date falls on a Saturday, the deadline is extended until the next Monday. But Monday in this case is Labor Day, a legal holiday, which means that the deadline is extended another 24 hours, or until Tuesday, September 3.

The rate of the tax for a full tax year is $1.50 per 1,000 pounds of taxable gross weight. A full year's tax for one vehicle will range from $40.50 to $80.00, depending on its taxable gross weight. Each tax year begins July and ends the following June 30. If the first use of a vehicle in the tax year occurs after July, the tax is prorated according to the number of months remaining in the tax year.

Holiday Weekend Hectic At Timonium State Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—A smiling queen was crowned, about 30 persons fainted from the heat and someone stole a 150-pound parrot machine.

That's the way the holiday weekend went at the Maryland State Fair, as the cattle yielded the spotlight to their two-footed friends.

Fair officials also announced last night that Gov. McKeldin would fly into the fairgrounds by helicopter tomorrow morning to accept a call from the fair on behalf of President Eisenhower.

The McKeldin presentation is scheduled for 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (AP)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made
